

3 Players Accused In Basketball Fix

NEW YORK (AP)—Three college basketball players have been accused of accepting bribes of $1,000 and $1,500 in a new out-break of game-fixing which police say may dwarf the gambling scandals of 1951.

Before the present investigation is completed, an informant said, a total of 15 to 25 colleges, including at least three from New York City, probably will be drawn into the giant web.

The office of Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan announced Friday the arrest of two men, described as representatives of a nationwide syndicate, and charged them with bribery and conspiracy in an attempt to rig college games.

The men were listed as Aaron Wagman, 28, also known as Al Wagner and Al Williams; and Joseph Hacken, 41, both of New York. Both have been involved in previous fix cases, one involving football and the other boxing, the district attorney said.

Gets $1,500

A University of Connecticut player, not identified, received $1,500 to shave points in a game against Colgate at Hamilton, N.Y. March 1, Asst. Dist. Atty. Peter D. Andreoli said. Two Seton Hall players collected $1,000 each for their part in a game against Dayton at Madison Square Garden Feb. 9, he said.

The Seton Hall players were identified as Henry Gunter, a center from New York, and Arthur Hicks, a forward from Chicago. Each is 21 years old.

Andreoli said the players were questioned but not held, and added: "Both are cooperating in our probe." They were reported staying with police in a New York hotel.

Arraigned in General Sessions Court, Wagman was held in $50,000 bail and Hacken in $25,000. Both face from one to 10 years imprisonment and a fine up to $10,000, or both, if convicted.

The district attorney's office said Hacken has a record of 10 gambling arrests and that Wagman is the same man convicted of trying to bribe a University of Florida football player last September.

Details of the alleged game-fixing attempts were not disclosed. Hogan's office merely said Wagman's action occurred Feb. 28 in connection with the Connecticut-Colgate game and Hacken's connection was made Feb. 9 in connection with the Dayton-Seton Hall game.

Colgate beat Connecticut 83-71. Dayton beat Seton Hall at the Garden 112-77.

Basketball followers recalled that both games aroused suspicions at the time.

Is An Indication

Dayton originally was listed as a six-point favorite but later the game was knocked off the betting boards. This was a sign the bookmakers refused to take any more bets.

The Connecticut-Colgate game twice was taken off the boards after Colgate had been estab-

Fish Unit, Sportsmen Compromise

HARRISBURG (AP)—The fish commission and members of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs compromised Friday on provisions of a proposed federation-sponsored boating safety bill.

Commission director Albert M. Day told Alvin R. Grove of State College and Henry S. Gates of Shippensburg, Mercer County, that the commission will consider setting up a boating advisory committee at its meeting on Monday.

In return Grove and Gates said they would drop a clause from the proposed bill that provides for administration of boating funds separate from fishing funds.

Grove is first vice president of the federation, which is holding its 29th annual spring convention here Friday and Saturday, and Gates is the chairman of the Federation's boating committee.

The advisory committee would consist of members of the Fish Commission, boatmen, fishermen and other interested parties. It is likely to be approved by the commission.

Day, who is opposed to setting up a different and separate board to account for boating funds, as is the rest of the commission, proposed the compromise from a similar board set up recently in Maryland.

Commission chairman Wallace Dean said, "If it has worked in Maryland, I don't see why Pennsylvania can't copy it."

Students Stage Protest March

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—About 1,000 sign-carrying students at Buffalo State teachers college marched across the campus Friday in a mass protest against the possibility of a tuition charge at state University colleges. It was the third organized demonstration among teachers college students this week.

lished first as a nine-point favorite, dropped to five points, then climbed to 11.

In the widespread basketball scandals of 1951, which affected 33 players from seven schools and involved some of the nation's college basketball giants, the gambling was based on the point spread.

This is a listing of game favorites with points published by a Midwestern concern. Payoffs are based on whether teams are successful in beating the spread.

Man Loses Leg; Pinned 18 Hours

CHICAGO (AP)—Surgeons Friday amputated the left leg of William McCoy who was pinned for 18 hours under tons of rubble in a building collapse.

The four-story building on the Southwest Side collapsed Thursday while wrecking crews were demolishing it.

Firemen eased the 25-year-old Negro laborer from the wreckage at 3 a.m. Friday after long hours of delicate effort amid tottering wreckage.

Later in the day, the body of Alfred Mack, 57, one of two men killed in the collapse, was recovered from the massive pile of bricks, concrete, steel and wood beams.

Firemen found Mack soon after the walls toppled, hanging head down, his legs crushed beneath beams. But he died as rescue crews struggled to free him.

Crews continued their search for implicated. Several players, as well as gamblers, drew jail sentences and many were barred from the game.

Father Edward Fleming, vice president of Seton Hall University in South Orange, N. J., said, "The university will take no action until we receive further information from the district attorney's office."

The Connecticut coach, Hugh Greer, said he was "completely crushed" by the news. "I had no idea of anything like this," he added. "Nothing like this ever happened to me before in all my years of coaching." He has been at Connecticut for 14 years.

the body of McCoy's brother-in-law, Robert Walker, 31.

The old sausage factory building at 1839-47 Blue Island Ave., marked for destruction to make way for a supermarket, was being razed by a wrecking crew when tragedy struck with a crumbling smash and a cloud of gray dust.

Some 28 men were removing floor joists on the first floor when two walls collapsed without warning. Besides McCoy, 14 were injured, five of them seriously. All but the three were able to crawl from the ruins, however.

Raymond Daley, chief deputy fire marshal, pointed to large slabs of concrete hanging precariously from the two remaining walls of the building. He said the heavy concrete apparently was added to the building's original wood floors without any provision for strengthening the floor supports.

Kessler Co., Gets Tannersville Bid

THE State Highway Dept. yesterday received an unofficial low bid of $2,298,169 for a 2.25 mile section of the Keystone Shortway northwest of Tannersville.

The bid was submitted by D. A. Kessler Construction Co., Inc., Mt. Carmel.

The section upon which Kessler bid calls for a four-lane divided highway with a median varying from 65 to 345 feet and requires construction of four bridges.

Work on the Stroudsburg Thruway, first part of the Keystone Shortway to be built in Monroe County, is currently underway.

Other Sections

The first section, constructed by aJmes D. Morrissey, Inc., Philadelphia, has been completed and is open to traffic. The second two sections are currently under construction by J. H. Beers, Inc., Richmond.

These three sections, which will cost $8,929,848.06 will be the eastern terminus of the Shortway, which will be known as Interstate Route 80.

Contracts for the next two sections were awarded to Mar-solina Construction Co., $3,731,137.34, and No. 1 Contracting Co., at a low bid of $2,526,785.67. Work on these sections is just starting.

Bids on the section from the end of the Kessler bid to Crescent Lake will be opened March 24.

"All At Once, All At Once..."

Cutaiar Children Happy Over Arrival Of Sisters

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Little Billy Cutaiar flung gleefully to all his admiring neighborhood Friday this wonder of his life—"I got four new sisters, all at once."

Whereupon the soon-to-be 5-year-old (April 14) wheeled down the street on his bike, his three-year-old sister, Sherree, taking after him and copy-cattling his words—"So do I, so do I—all at once, all at once."

So it was, up and down the staid streets of suburban Malvern where it's still fresh and joyous news that Mrs. Arlene Cutaiar, 24, a one-time local beauty queen, gave birth to quadruplets—all girls—Wednesday night.

She and the new additions to the family—they weighed a total of 12 pounds, 4 ounces at birth—are in Delaware County Memorial Hospital and by all reports doing very well.

The father, William III, is back at work helping his father run a trucking business. But his mind is on what remains for him tonight—less than a miracle.

For the time being about as close as he can come to being practical is to help think up the right names for his new daughters.

Forewarned that quads were on the way, but not daring to believe what the doctor said, the Cutaiars laughed indulgently over the conceit and said: "well just supposing we have four boys, what about calling them Matthew, Mark, Luke and John?" Out of deference to the Scriptures of course.

A similar tandem naming of the girls is much harder to do. Neither the Bible nor mythology provides so ready an inspiration.

"The only name we have been able to come up with so far—and that not definitely—is Kimberly," William the Third told a newsman.

Kim For Short

Why Kimberly?

Just so the girl thus christened can be called Kim for short.

People have been peppering the Cutaiars with questions, both at close range and from long distance.

"Will this change our lives?" exclaimed the father. "Let me tell you, it has. Life will never be

Cold Lowers Boom, But Irish Prance In Glory

NEW YORK (AP)—For the second year in a row, bitter weather chilled the ardor of New York's Irish as they marched up Fifth Avenue in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade. They were buffeted by a wind as cold as the devil's very heart.

But the parade was most colorful in a way—with the white breath of spectators, the red cheeks of marchers, the green line up the avenue, the bright golden sun, the scarlet kilts of a visiting Irish regiment from Canada, and the chilled blue legs of high-stepping drum majorettes.

The great day dawned with a temperature of 18 degrees above zero. When Patrolman Thomas P. Mullahy, only 11 years removed from the old sod, blew a blast on his whistle to set the marchers off at 12:04 p.m., it was 26 degrees.

It took the paraders 62 minutes

If callers can dream up nothing else to ask, they want to know how the name is pronounced. It is "Cue-tare." The family name is French, although Bill's mother was Irish derivation.

"We can't overlook that on a day like this, can we?" said Bill.

Income Drop Dampens Hopes Of Recovery; But Market Is Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A February drop in personal income dampened hopes Friday that a six-month slide in business ended last month.

The Commerce Department reported February's over-all personal income rate dropped $700 million from January's to an annual rate of $405.9 billion.

This didn't wholly offset Friday good news from the Federal Reserve Board. But it gave pause to those who feel the recession hit bottom in February and recovery has begun. And it supported those who insist it's still too early to say whether the hoped-for spring upturn will occur.

Were Offset

The Federal Reserve board Thursday reported February industrial production leveled off at the January rate, halting six straight months of declines. This combined with other favorable items to encourage hope that the low point had been reached and an upturn was starting.

The Commerce Department said drops in February's wages, salaries, and dividends were only

Badly Beaten Missionaries Are Rescued

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Thirty missionaries, badly beaten by rebel soldiers, have been rescued by United Nations troops from the anarchy of Kivu Province, a U. N. spokesman said Friday.

They brought out with them stories of being held in their homes without food, and of a fanatical sect of 100 pagans on the rampage in Kivu vowing to kill all whites. The missionaries were rescued by a U. N. Malayan patrol at Kasongo and taken 100 miles to a U. N. refugee station at Kindu.

The nationalities of the missionaries were not established in reports reaching Leopoldville. The United Nations first reported 23 of them were Americans but later retracted this statement. Some American missionaries are known to be in the remote reaches of Kivu, which nominally at least is under the control of Antoine Gizenga, the Moscow-backed rebel chief in Stanleyville.

Trouble Zone

At least another 30 missionaries of various nationalities are in the trouble zone of Kivu and church authorities have expressed fears for their safety.

U. N. sources said one group of American missionaries previously rescued and taken to Kindu now are reported ready to go back to their station at Kama. They include a girl raped by four rebel soldiers.

The United Nations reported, meanwhile, the removal of one source of friction with the Congo government's army, but more friction was arising.

The spokesman said Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu had lifted a ban on U. N. planes landing at Coquilhatville, capital of Equator Province. Mobutu had blocked the landing of a U. N. plane loaded with Ethiopian troops, saying he would not allow heavy guns to be flown in. He was assured the United Nations had no intention of flying in heavy guns.

In Elisabethville, President Moise Tshombe of independent Katanga demanded withdrawal of U. N. troops from Kabalo in the northern part of the province.

The Congo government spokesman indicated it will be two or three weeks before U. N. troops can go back to their vital supply ports of Matadi and Banana on the west coast, lost in a battle with Congolese soldiers.

"If the United Nations goes back too soon the population will become excited," said spokesman Pascal Kapella. "Two or three weeks are needed."

GOP Senators Favor Radar

HARRISBURG (AP)—Two Republican Senators expressed highly favorable opinions of radar Friday after state police demonstrations of use of the electronic device for clocking highway speeders.

Sens. John T. Van Sant, Lehigh, and Thomas A. Ehrgood, Lebanon, said they would be inclined to vote for the radar bill, now in the Senate, on the basis of what they saw.

Sen. Fred B. Rooney, D-Northampton, who arranged the demonstration said he thought the Democrats now will have enough Republican help to vote the bill on Monday. Rooney is Senate highways committee chairman.

The radar bill failed two weeks ago, but it has since been revived and is in position for a new vote.

Report Claims Aid Is Doubled

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—An informed source said Friday the United States has doubled its military mission in Laos and increased shipments of guns and ammunition to meet a new threat by Soviet-armed rebels.

The informant, whose identity cannot be disclosed, said the exact rate of increase in military aid to the pro-Western government is not available.

But he said shipments of many types of supplies have been stepped up, though no new or unusual weapons have been sent in. U. S. military men teaching the government army how to use its U. S. aid now number about 200, he said, compared to 100 previously.

In Washington, the State Department affirmed that the number of Americans administering aid in Laos had been increased but said there had been no new, sudden stepup in arms supplied.

The arms report came amid these developments:

Talks Collapse

1. A royal government charge that peace talks have broken down because the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels and the man they recognize as Laos' rightful head of government, ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma, refused to honor a pledge to hold an immediate conciliation conference.

2. A major rebel offensive that captured the vital Sala Phou Koun road junction, just 40 miles south of the royal capital of Luang Prabang, and apparently dashed government plans for an offensive eastward into the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres.

3. Reports that Llewellyn Thompson, U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, has told Premier Khrushchev the United States does not want a major East-West arms race to develop in Laos but will ship in three guns for every two the Soviets give the rebels.

Makes Appeal

4. Indian Prime Minister Nehru's announcement in London that Laotian King Savang Vathana has appealed for his help in preventing foreign interference in Laos, saying "the country is going to pieces chiefly because other people are interfering."

Soviet shipment of supplies by air transport and truck to the rebels was said to be continuing at a

The question will be placed on the ballot at the May 16 primary election.

Student Runs Into Vehicle

The informant said the United States has increased shipments of shoes, uniforms, rice and petroleum as well as guns and ammunition. He said the exact number of U. S. military men now assigned to the programs evaluation office is not available. These men, dressed in civilian clothes and officially not connected with U. S. military services, instruct government troops in use of their new weapons.

Laos Crisis Among Rusk, Gromyko

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will confer here Saturday on "international questions of interest" to the United States and the Soviet Union the State Department announced Friday.

The conference, set up on Rusk's initiative, will afford a new opportunity for the Kennedy administration to warn the Soviet government of the dangers which it sees in the continuing crisis in Laos.

Laos is considered certain to be one of the main topics of discussion, but the State Department, in announcing the meeting, declined to identify any particular subject.

Other topics considered likely to come up include arrangements for resuming disarmament negotiations, the Berlin situation, the Congo crisis, and perhaps the prospects for an eventual meeting between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The two foreign ministers will lunch together in Rusk's dining room in the State Department. Each will be accompanied by advisers, including Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, the U. S. representative at the United Nations.

Diplomats said the discussion here will be a new step in the series which have been under way between the Khrushchev government and the new administration in Washington since immediately after Kennedy took office two months ago.

This has included messages between Kennedy and Khrushchev, conversations between Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov and Rusk, and a four-hour meeting in Siberia last week between Khrushchev and Llewellyn Thompson, U. S. ambassador to Moscow.

District Judge Hurt In Mishap

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Judge Frederick V. Follmer of the U. S. District Court, and his bailiff were injured Friday when their car was struck from behind by another auto.

State police said Follmer and W. Lloyd Woodling, both of Milton, were traveling on U. S. 322 three miles north of here when their car was hit by one driven by Rollin Clark, a boy scout official in the Juniata council.

Follmer and Woodling were hospitalized and their condition reported as satisfactory.

Today's Lesson: Jesus Prays For His Own

By Newman Campbell

JESUS CHRIST prays to His Father in heaven to glorify Him.

"These words spake Jesus, and lifted up His eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify Thy Son, that Thy Son also may glorify Thee."—John 17:1.

"As Thou hast given Him power over all flesh, that He should give eternal life to as many as Thou hast given Him: And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent."—John 17:2-3.

"I have glorified Thee on the earth: I have finished the work that Thou gavest Me to do, and fore the world was."—John 17:4-5.

now, O Father, glorify Thou Me with Thine Own Self with the glory which I had with Thee before the world was: that the Father glorify in the Son whom He has sent into the world; that the Son also may glorify in the Father, who has sent Him: and they have kept Thy word. Now they have known that all things whatsoever Thou hast given Me are of Thee."—John 17:6-7.

"I pray for them; I pray not for the world, but for them which Thou hast given Me; for they are Thine, and Thine are Mine; and I am glorified in them."—John 17:9-10.

To Break Ground Sunday

EAST Stroudsburg Methodist Church will break ground Sunday following the 11 a.m. services for the new church school expansion building.

Following the services the congregation will meet where the new building is to be situated and Dr. Charles W. Phillips, executive director of the board of education, Philadelphia conference, will remove the first shovel of earth.

Also participating in the ground breaking ceremonies will be N. Harold West, building committee; Carl T. Secor, church school superintendent; Harold Rinker, board of trustees; Adolph Rake, general contractor, and the Revs. Harold C. Eaton and William Dearin.

At the 7:30 p.m. services a cantata entitled "To Calvary" will be presented by the Chancel Choir. The cantata is in three parts: The First Palm Sunday, The First Maundy Thursday, and the First Good Friday.

The New English Bible Offers Scriptures In Modern Idiom

"VERILY I SAY UNTO YOU, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Or—

"I tell you this: Anything you did for one of my brothers here, however humble, you did for me."

With different words, these two sentences convey the substance of Jesus' famous discourse to his disciples in the 25th chapter of Matthew.

The first is from the King James version of the Scriptures, the standard Bible of English-speaking Protestants for the past 350 years.

The second is from an authoritative new translation to be published Tuesday by the Oxford and Cambridge University Presses.

Thirteen years in preparation by a team of leading British scholars, the new translation is named simply: "The New English Bible."

Only the New Testament portion is now available (standard edition price $4.95). Scholars are still at work on the Old Testament, which is due for publication about 1967.

Unlike the Revised Standard Version (RSV), which American scholars completed in 1952, the New English Bible does not seek merely to revise and clarify archaic language of the King James. It is an entirely new translation from the original Greek into contemporary English idiom.

It is a superb translation—easy to read and understand, always dignified but never stilted.

The lucid beauty of many of its passages may be traced to a secret panel of literary advisers, including some of Britain's most famous poets and novelists, who worked alongside eminent Biblical scholars during its preparation.

Although clergymen and theologians will read it avidly, the New English Bible is intended primarily for laymen—in and out of the churches—who have found the 17th Century English of the King James almost as formidable a language barrier as the original Greek.

Every new translation of the Bible encounters some initial criticism and even hostility from admirers of older versions. The King James, in its day, was roundly denounced. The RSV is still the object of considerable controversy, and some extreme conservatives have gone so far as to suggest that Communists may have had a hand in preparing it.

But the New English Bible bears such an impressive stamp of scholarly authority, and does such a good job of communicating the actual meaning of New Testament writings to a contemporary reader, that it seems likely to gain widespread favor very rapidly.

Anticipating such a response, the publishers have ordered a first printing of 500,000 copies—largest initial order in British publishing history.

Prominent United States clergymen of many shades of theological belief, who have read review copies, are enthusiastic about the translation.

"There will be little debate on its outstanding merit," predicts the Rev. Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor of Boston's Park Street Baptist Church.

"What may surprise the reader, and will certainly delight him, is its remarkable beauty and strength," says Dr. John Knox of Union Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle of Yale Divinity School, who headed the board of editors for the Revised Standard Version, does not regard the New English Bible as a rival or "competitor" of the RSV.

The RSV, he says, was intended for use in both public and private worship, and consciously sought to preserve as much as possible of the language of the King James. The New English Bible, on the other hand, is intended primarily for private reading, and it either ignores, or consciously avoids, the vocabulary and sentence structures of earlier editions.

The difference between the RSV and the New English Bible can also be explained in terms of two different approaches to translation. One approach seeks to maintain the general structure of the original text, while replacing its words with their nearest equivalents in modern English. This basically was done in the RSV.

The other approach seeks to determine the meaning of the original as precisely as possible, and then to convey this meaning in the same free idiom that a contemporary English writer might use. This is the principle followed in the New English Bible.

The same principle was applied in a number of earlier modern translations by individual scholars—for example, those by James Moffatt, Edgar J. Goodspeed, and J. B. Phillips. But these individual translations naturally do not bear the same stamp of authority as a version which represents the joint conclusions of a whole team of world-renowned scholars.

The New English Bible grew out of a long-standing conviction by British church leaders that the King James—or "the authorized version" as it is known in Britain—has become largely unintelligible to modern readers and is no longer being read, however frequently it is purchased.

Scholars have identified more than 1,000 English words used in the King James version whose meaning in common usage has altered so greatly over the past 350 years as to make a Biblical passage baffling, or even positively misleading, to a 20th Century reader.

Moreover, there have been tremendous advances in Biblical translation techniques during the past 50 years. New manuscripts have become available which are centuries older and considerably more accurate than the texts by the translators of the King James. The discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls and other ancient documents has thrown significant new light on the meaning of words in the "Common Greek" of the first and second centuries A.D., in which the New Testament was originally written.

To enable the reader to make his own comparisons, here is a passage from Christ's Sermon on the Mount (a portion of the Beatitudes) as it appears in the King James, RSV, and the New English Bible:

KING JAMES
"And he opened his mouth, and taught them:
"Blessed are the poor in spirit: For theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven."

"Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted.
"Blessed are the meek: For they shall inherit the earth.
"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled."

REVISED STANDARD VERSION
"And he opened his mouth and taught them, saying:
"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven
"Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.
"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth.
"Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they shall be satisfied."

NEW ENGLISH BIBLE
"He took His seat, and when His disciples had gathered round Him He began to address them. And this is the teaching he gave:
"How blessed are those who know that they are poor;
"The Kingdom of Heaven is theirs.
"How blessed are the sorrowful;
"They shall find consolation.
"How blessed are those of gentle spirit;
"They shall have the earth for their possession.
"How blessed are those who hunger and thirst to see right prevail;
"They shall be satisfied."

Even in familiar passages like the Nativity story, where the poetic language of the King James has gained the strongest hold on popular affections, the New English Bible rises to the challenge of telling the same story with equal beauty—and greater clarity.

THE 2ND CHAPTER OF ST. LUKE'S Gospel in the King James version begins:
"And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.
"And this taxing was first made when Cyrenus was governor of Syria."

"And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.
"And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the City of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the City of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David):
"To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.
"And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.
"And she brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn."

NOW HERE IS THE SAME passage as it appears in the New English Bible:
"In those days a decree was issued by the Emperor Augustus for a general registration throughout the Roman world. This was the first registration of its kind; it took place when Quirinius was governor of Syria. For this purpose everyone made his way to his own town; and so Joseph went up to Judaea from the town of Nazareth in Galilee, to be registered at the City of David, called Bethlehem, because he was of the House of David by descent. And with him went Mary who was betrothed to him.
She was pregnant, and while they were there the time came for her child to be born, and she gave birth to a Son, her first-born. She wrapped Him round, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them to lodge in the inn."

Today's Lesson: Jesus Prays For His Own

By Newman Campbell
JESUS CHRIST prays to His Father in heaven to glorify Him.

"These words spake Jesus, and lifted up His eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify Thy Son, that Thy Son also may glorify Thee."—John 17:1.

"As Thou hast given Him power over all flesh, that He should give eternal life to as many as Thou hast given Him. And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent."—John 17:2-3.

"I have glorified Thee on the earth: I have finished the work that Thou gavest Me to do. And now, O Father, glorify Thou Me with Thine Own Self with the glory which I had with Thee before the world was." — John 17:4-5.

"I have manifested Thy Name unto the men which Thou gavest Me out of the world; Thine they were, and Thou gavest them Me; and they have kept Thy word. Now they have known that all things whatsoever Thou hast given Me are of Thee."—John 17:6-7.

"I pray for them; I pray not for the world, but for them which Thou hast given Me; for they are Thine, and all Mine are Thine, and Thine are Mine; and I am glorified in them."—John 17:9-10.

To Break Ground Sunday

EAST Stroudsburg Methodist Church will break ground Sunday following the 11 a.m. services for the new church school expansion building.

Following the services the congregation will meet where the new building is to be situated and Dr. Charles W. Phillips, executive director of the board of education, Philadelphia conference, will remove the first shovel of earth.

Also participating in the ground breaking ceremonies will be N. Harold West, building committee; Carl T. Secor, church school superintendent; Harold Rinker, board of trustees; Adolph Rake, general contractor, and the Revs. Harold C. Eaton and William Dearn.

At the 7:30 p.m. services a cantata entitled "To Calvary" will be presented by the Chancel Choir. The cantata is in three parts: The First Palm Sunday, The First Maundy Thursday, and the First Good Friday.

The New English Bible Offers Scriptures In Modern Idiom

"VERILY I SAY UNTO YOU, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Or—
"I tell you this: Anything you did for one of my brothers here, however humble, you did for me."

With different words, these two sentences convey the substance of Jesus' famous discourse to his disciples in the 25th chapter of Matthew.

The first is from the King James version of the Scriptures, the standard Bible of English-speaking Protestants for the past 350 years. The second is from an authoritative new translation to be published Tuesday by the Oxford and Cambridge University Presses.

Thirteen years in preparation by a team of leading British scholars, the new translation is named simply: "The New English Bible."

Only the new Testament portion is now available (standard edition price $4.95). Scholars are still at work on the Old Testament, which is due for publication about 1967.

Unlike the Revised Standard Version (RSV), which American scholars completed in 1952, the New English Bible does not seek merely to revise and clarify archaic language of the King James. It is an entirely new translation from the original Greek into contemporary English idiom.

It is a superb translation—easy to read and understand, always dignified but never stilted.

The lucid beauty of many of its passages may be traced to a secret panel of literary advisers, including some of Britain's most famous poets and novelists, who worked alongside eminent Biblical scholars during its preparation.

Although clergymen and theologians will read it avidly, the New English Bible is intended primarily for laymen—in and out of the churches—who have found the 17th Century English of the King James almost as formidable a language barrier as the original Greek.

Every new translation of the Bible encounters some initial criticism and even hostility from admirers of older versions. The King James, in its day, was roundly denounced. The RSV is still the object of considerable controversy, and some extreme conservatives have gone so far as to suggest that Communists may have had a hand in preparing it.

But the New English Bible bears such an impressive stamp of scholarly authority, and does such a good job of communicating the actual meaning of New Testament writings to a contemporary reader, that it seems likely to gain widespread favor very rapidly.

Anticipating such a response, the publishers have ordered a first printing of 500,000 copies—largest initial order in British publishing history.

Prominent United States clergymen of many shades of theological belief, who have read review copies, are enthusiastic about the translation.

"There will be little debate on its outstanding merit," predicts the Rev. Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor of Boston's Park Street Baptist Church.

"What may surprise the reader, and will certainly delight him, is its remarkable beauty and strength," says Dr. John Knox of Union Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle of Yale Divinity School, who headed the board of editors for the Revised Standard Version, does not regard the New English Bible as a rival or "competitor" of the RSV.

The RSV, he says, was intended for use in both public and private worship, and consciously sought to preserve as much as possible of the language of the King James. The New English Bible, on the other hand, is intended primarily for private reading, and it either ignores, or consciously avoids, the vocabulary and sentence structures of earlier editions.

The difference between the RSV and the New English Bible can also be explained in terms of two different approaches to translation. One approach seeks to maintain the general structure of the original text, while replacing its words with their nearest equivalents in modern English. This basically was done in the RSV.

The other approach seeks to determine the meaning of the original as precisely as possible, and then to convey this meaning in the same free idiom that a contemporary English writer might use. This is the principle followed in the New English Bible.

The same principle was applied in a number of earlier modern translations by individual scholars—for example, those by James Moffatt, Edgar J. Goodspeed, and J. B. Phillips. But these individual translations naturally do not bear the same stamp of authority as a version which represents the joint conclusions of a whole team of world-renowned scholars.

The New English Bible grew out of a long-standing conviction by British church leaders that the King James—or "the authorized version" as it is known in Britain—has become largely unintelligible to modern readers and is no longer being read, however frequently it is purchased.

Scholars have identified more than 1,000 English words used in the King James version whose meaning in common usage has altered so greatly over the past 350 years as to make a Biblical passage baffling, or even positively misleading, to a 20th Century reader.

Moreover, there have been tremendous advances in Biblical translation techniques during the past 50 years. New manuscripts have become available which are centuries older and considerably more accurate than the texts by the translators of the King James. The discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls and other ancient documents has thrown significant new light on the meaning of words in the "Common Greek" of the first and second centuries A.D., in which the New Testament was originally written.

To enable the reader to make his own comparisons, here is a passage from Christ's Sermon on the Mount (a portion of the Beatitudes) as it appears in the King James, RSV, and the New English Bible:

KING JAMES
"And he opened His mouth, and taught them, saying:
"Blessed are the poor in spirit: For theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven."

"Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted."

"Blessed are the meek: For they shall inherit the earth."

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled."

REVISED STANDARD VERSION
"And He opened His mouth and taught them, saying:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven."

"Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted."

"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

"Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they shall be satisfied."

NEW ENGLISH BIBLE
"He took His seat, and when His disciples had gathered round Him He began to address them. And this is the teaching he gave:

"How blessed are those who know that they are poor;
"The Kingdom of Heaven is theirs."

"How blessed are the sorrowful;
"They shall find consolation."

"How blessed are those of gentle spirit;
"They shall have the earth for their possession."

"How blessed are those who hunger and thirst to see right prevail;
"They shall be satisfied."

Even in familiar passages like the Nativity story, where the poetic language of the King James has gained the strongest hold on popular affections, the New English Bible rises to the challenge of telling the same story with equal beauty—and greater clarity.

THE 2ND CHAPTER OF ST. LUKE'S Gospel in the King James version begins:

"And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed."

"(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)"

"And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city."

"And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the City of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the City of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David):"

"To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child."

"And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered."

"And she brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn."

NOW HERE IS THE SAME passage as it appears in the New English Bible:

"In those days a decree was issued by the Emperor Augustus for a general registration throughout the Roman world. This was the first registration of its kind; it took place when Quirinius was governor of Syria. For this purpose everyone made his way to his own town; and so Joseph went up to Judea from the town of Nazareth in Galilee, to be registered at the City of David, called Bethlehem, because he was of the House of David by descent. And with him went Mary who was betrothed to him."

She was pregnant, and while they were there the time came for her child to be born, and she gave birth to a Son, her first-born. She wrapped Him round, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them to lodge in the inn."

There is a deep gloom that sometimes enshrouds the human soul. It comes silently, and usually without warning. Like an evening fog it seems to rise out of the marshes and imprison us in its chill tentacles.

Men call it by many names. To one it is UNCERTAINTY. To another, WORRY. To the most harassed, FEAR.

But always it hides the brightness in life . . . and makes us feel the surrounding shadows.

LIGHT AMONG THE SHADOWS

There is a gleam of faith that is capable of penetrating the gloom. It seems to leap time and space to unite the soul with God. Men call it PRAYER.

And whether in the quiet of meditation, or in the thrilling unison of a congregation at worship, it pierces life's shadows. It lights our next step!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Peiping Weapon

Planned starvation is the weapon with which the Chinese Communists now press their ruthless drive to subjugate the peaceful people of Tibet.

Already thousands of Tibetans have starved to death, unable to sustain life in that hard climate on the ration set by the invaders or the grass and wild tubers to which they turn in desperation.

Until the Chinese confiscated all the country's food stocks, famine was unknown there. As could be expected in a place of long and bitter winters, human survival depended on thrift and foresight and was bound to develop the characteristics of independence which communism cannot accommodate.

Now with the Tibetan grain stocks depleted and the invaders slaughtering the sheep and yak herds for meat, a sense of hopelessness is descending on Tibet.

Those with the strength required for travel through the bleak Himalayan country are fleeing into India. The others grow weaker and die.

And back in Peiping, headquarters of the bleak new people's society, the conversion of backward Tibet is recorded as proceeding satisfactorily.

About Town Night Flight: Jim was just falling off to sleep when his wife nudged him and said the telephone downstairs was ringing.

"Well, go answer it," he mumbled.

She said she would but at this hour it was probably for him, and then closed her eyes. Jim rolled out of bed.

Upon returning, his wife was asleep. He woke her.

"Wasn't for me, after all," he said, and waited until she had crawled out of bed and pulled on a robe to add:

"It was a wrong number."

Please Return Parrot: Receiving an invitation to dine with the squire, the vicar of a small parish took a lantern to guide him through the dark village lanes.

They had a jolly dinner and a very enjoyable time. The vicar returned home safe and sound, but early next morning a messenger arrived with a note from the squire.

"Dear Vicar," it ran. "If you will kindly return the parrot in its cage, you can have your lantern."

U.S. Sub Attacked

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — A U.S. submarine was attacked by a Russian bomber in the Barents Sea around the first of this year — approximately six months after the F-47 reconnaissance plane was shot down over these international waters.

This latest attack was unsuccessful. The submarine escaped unscathed.

An air-to-sea missile believed to be a new type depth charge was employed in the attack.

The U.S. submarine was on a patrol mission in the Barents Sea off the northern coast of Russia. The vessel, running submerged, was well out in international waters when attacked by the Soviet bomber.

In Inner NATO circles, the Barents Sea is now rated one of the hottest areas of the cold war.

These strategic waters are under constant patrol by both the East and West.

Russia has the largest concentration of naval craft there since World War II, and is distinctly known to have reinforced its air units with several squadrons of bombers and interceptors.

The U.S. is patrolling the Barents Sea with submarines and reconnaissance planes.

These northern waters are a "bottle station" of the new nuclear-powered submarine armed with the solid-fuel Polaris ballistic missile carrying a nuclear warhead. Two of three subs have made extensive patrols in the Barents in recent months.

B-47 reconnaissance flights also are being conducted.

President Kennedy authorized them after taking office, following a careful review of the legality of these missions.

It was determined they are wholly within U.S. rights as they in no way infringe on Soviet territory.

The planes now operate under ironclad orders to stay at least 50 miles from Russian borders.

The RB-47s are equipped with cameras capable of taking photos of subjects 400 miles distant.

How Reds Did It — That B-47 reconnaissance plane was downed last summer over the Barents Sea with air-to-air rockets ominously similar to this country's Sidewinder — rated as the most accurate and deadly weapon of its kind.

Until the two recently-liberated pilots disclosed this, the Soviet was not known to have this type rocket.

During the "Intelligence briefing" of Captains John McKone and Freeman Olmstead, they revealed their four-engine jet was hit by heat-seeking rockets from Russian interceptors.

The missiles, "homed in" on the No. 2 and No. 3 engines and knocked the plane out of the air.

The RB-47's 20mm guns returned the Reds' fire, but without avail.

McKone and Olmstead strongly recommended that these reconnaissance planes be equipped with Sidewinders.

Another surprise disclosed by the two pilots was the Russians' detailed knowledge about them and their plane. The Soviet interrogators had complete files on all members of the crew; where the plane had taken off from in England; the exact time of its departure and the route flown until attacked over the open Barents Sea some 30 miles from Russian territory.

Since this startling information was reported by the two pilots, and investigation has been underway to determine whether a spy ring exists at the RB-47 base.

Also under scrutiny is the possibility that facts concerning these reconnaissance flights were divulged to the Soviet by the two defectors from the National Security Agency. They were cryptographers who specialized in breaking Iron Curtain codes.

To Pentagon authorities it is highly significant that Moscow has never said anything about how the RB-47 was downed.

In direct contrast, Premier Khrushchev himself claimed the U-2 plane was shot down by a ground-to-air missile. That is known to be false. The U-2 was knocked out of the air by an interceptor fire after a flame-out forced the plane to descend to around 40,000 feet.

Too Late — Bobby Kennedy, seven-year-old son of Attorney General Robert Kennedy, is not talking about his formal visit to his uncle, the President of the United States.

"It was strictly personal," says Bobby gravely. "Can't discuss it."

The President is a bit more communicative. He snuggled up to a congressional leader. "We had a nice talk. But I had to tell Bobby that I couldn't help him because the job he wanted was already filled. I advised him not to be discouraged, and to try again some other time."

The Ladies — Princess Radziwell, sister of the First Lady, wears her hair much longer than the latter, and combed back from her forehead. . . . Every baby born in the district of Rep. Frances Bolton (P., O.), receives a personal letter from her reading, "My dear baby: Here you are and you have such a task ahead of you training the parents of yours. . . . Discipline them well, and remember that you have come because of their love and their joy in each other, and now in you."

. . . Mrs. Everett Dirksen, wife of the Senate Republican Leader, has accepted the chairmanship of the Washington Chapter of the International Speakers Exchange whose mission is to tell the "American story" in foreign countries by traveling Americans.

Inside You And Yours

Tips On Toes

By Burton H. Fern, M.D. 1. Athlete's foot is annoying but harmless. True—False—

2. You have to catch athlete's foot from someone who has it. True—False—

3. A lump in the groin may be the first symptom of athlete's foot. True—False—

4. Athlete's foot causes bumps on the fingers. True—False—

5. Iodine is good treatment for athlete's foot. True—False—

Here are the answers: 1. False. Sometimes athlete's foot (a fungus infection of the toes) spreads into larger blisters that break. Now raw, oozing sores cover the toes and ball of the foot.

These wide-open spaces invite in all kinds of bacteria. If these germs reach your circulation, you come down with "blood poisoning."

2. True.

Your toes may be covered with fungus that causes athlete's foot. But the fungus can't gain a foothold until sweat-soaked toes rub against each other, scratching and scraping openings in the skin.

3. True.

Strong remedies injure delicate raw tissue and slow healing.

For mild athlete's foot, wash and dry the toes each day. Sprinkle foot powder into shoes and socks and apply a mild fungus-killing ointment at bedtime. (Desenex or half-strength Whitfield's ointment work fine.)

4. False.

Overenthusiastic applications of curing ointments sometimes spark an oozing allergic rash that resembles athlete's foot. Let your doctor prescribe the treatment for more serious infections.

Did these questions catch you flatfooted? Or were you on your toes?

Letter Of Appreciation Dear Mr. Editor: The Monroe County Heart Committee would like to express its heartfelt thanks to all the community chairmen, captains, and their workers for their part in making the Heart Fund Drive the success that it has been.

We also wish to thank The Daily Record, and radio station WVPO for their splendid coverage during the campaign, also the members of Girl Scout Troop 52 who made the window posters.

We owe a great debt of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ponginger, who conducted the Heart Fund Dance for our benefit, and to the George N. Kemp Post of the American Legion who sponsored the affair and contributed the use of their beautiful hall and the facilities of their building.

Thanks to the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg firemen-bowlers for their contribution. We also appreciate greatly the work of the Heart Committee Speakers Bureau headed by Miss Genevieve Zimbar and M. J. Leitner, M.D. and all the various speakers arranged for by the bureau.

The Heart Committee is most grateful to all those who contributed in any way to the Campaign.

DOROTHY M. OLIVER, Exec. Secretary, Monroe County Heart Committee

Veterans Guide Q.—What kind of prosthetic appliances may eligible veterans receive from the VA?

A.—These include artificial limbs and eyes, braces, trusses, orthopedic shoes, crutches, canes, eyeglasses, hearing aids, wheelchairs, and special clothing. Blind veterans entitled to disability compensation may receive a guide dog and special mechanical and electronic equipment. Veterans receiving regular aid and attendance support from the VA are entitled to an invalid lift, if medically indicated.

Q.—Under the old pension law, an eligible veteran's monthly payment is increased from $68.15 to $78.75 after he has been on the rolls for 10 years, or upon reaching age 65. Does the rate change under the new law?

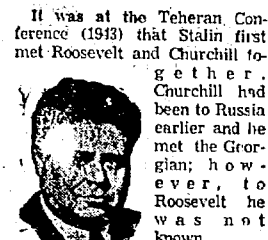

A.—Not because of age or length of time on the pension rolls. The rate may change because of change in the veteran's income, his net worth, or the number of his dependents.

Q.—Once I have designated a relative as beneficiary of my GI insurance policy, do I have to keep this person as beneficiary?

A.—The GI policyholder may change his beneficiary at any time. However the VA must be notified of the change. You may write directly to your VA insurance office or you may call at the nearest

History Without Documents

It was at the Tehran Conference (1943) that Stalin first met Roosevelt and Churchill together.

Churchill had been to Russia earlier and he met the Georgian, however, to Roosevelt he was not known.

It is clear from what is available about Tehran that it was at this meeting that Roosevelt agreed to give to Stalin a large part of Europe and Asia.

Although the Yalta Conference occurred after Tehran, the Yalta Papers have been published by the State Department but Tehran is still supposed to be secret.

Recently, it was stated and denied that General Eisenhower, when he left the White House, took the Tehran Papers with him. Eisenhower said that he had not done so. Those papers, in no manner, are the property of Eisenhower.

They are State Department documents, still secret, and General Eisenhower, as a private citizen, has no more right to them than you or I. His denial must be taken on his face and it must be assumed that all these documents are in their proper place in the State Department archives and that they will one day be published.

However, it needs to be noted that they cannot be destroyed because the British and Russians have these Tehran Papers and some, if not all of them, have been seen by private persons in this country and elsewhere.

The only purpose for suppressing them would be to save the reputations of the persons who attended this conference. Congress has authorized their publication; nevertheless, they have been suppressed. From the standpoint of history, nobody's reputation can ever be saved by violating documents because the historian ultimately gets at the facts.

Until the Tehran Papers are published completely, most of the judgements of the American people on the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia will be based on lack of accurate information.

There must be a purpose in suppressing these documents. Is it to save the reputations of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill? Is it to prove that in their various public statements and books, these statesmen told the truth? Is it to save the reputation of General George Marshall? If these in charge of such matters have no reason for suppressing the truth why do they do it?

The public official who set up the Tehran Conference was Averell Harriman, presently President Kennedy's roving Ambassador. Harriman has ruptured considerably since his early days in public life.

He knows what happened at Tehran and undoubtedly has kept notes or a diary or he may even have copies of some documents. Harriman is one of the few top men alive to tell the tale.

The American people have the right to know what happened at this conference that changed the world and that laid down principles and agreements over which the Cold War has been continuous since 1915.

The Cold War has three sides: our side, the Russian side, and the neutral side. Our side is that we believe that we know and we state it to be that at Potsdam, Soviet Russia agreed to conditions of conquest which the Russians have violated.

Their side, we do not know and cannot know until we have before us the Tehran Papers which, if published in full, will give us the agreements and understandings among Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. In a word, are the Russians bluffing or were promises made to them which have not been lived up to, or are we complaining about acts of aggression on the part of Soviet Russia to which we agreed when the war was still on?

To understand the character of the Cold War and the Russian insistence that it be prolonged, even against their interests, one is forced to believe that there must be a reason for their attitude.

That reason is to be found in the Tehran Papers. As one reads the Yalta Papers, it becomes clear that Yalta was a prolongation and a correction of Tehran. But what happened at Potsdam, where Harry Truman, unfamiliar with both the Tehran and Yalta Conferences, was confronted by prior agreements?

He never agreed to a Summit Conference after that. President Eisenhower went to one Summit Conference and came off with little benefit and at the second one he was abused and belittled. What cards does Khrushchev hold that he dares to humiliate the President of the United States? I think the answer will be found in the Tehran Papers.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Justice Isn't Pork

When the House of Representatives takes up the bill for creating new federal judgeships we trust it will act more judiciously than the Senate did. It will have the benefit of a report on the needs of the courts from the Judicial Conference which has just met in Washington.

Presidents of both parties have tended to appoint judges almost exclusively from their own party. For the last six years Democratic Congresses have delayed the establishment of badly needed new judgeships—waiting for a Democratic President.

The situation became so urgent that President Eisenhower promised to name Republicans to only half the new posts. But the Democrats decided things were not that desperate.

But once the White House was captured they suddenly found that court delays were really intolerable. The new administration proposed 59 new judgeships. The Senate did not even wait for committee hearings to determine the needs. It treated the bill like a "pork barrel" measure, tossing in enough extra posts to make the total 73.

Senators who for six years had repeatedly blocked measures to relieve court congestion would not even wait two weeks for a new report from the Judicial Conference. New judges are needed. We trust the House will provide them. But we hope not with the Senate's unseemly haste and pork-larding manner. Congress should set a better example of respect for the courts.

They are State Department documents, still secret, and General Eisenhower, as a private citizen, has no more right to them than you or I. His denial must be taken on its face and it must be assumed that all these documents are in their proper place in the State Department archives and that they will one day be published.

However, it needs to be noted that they cannot be destroyed because the British and Russians have these Teheran Papers and some, if not all of them, have been seen by private persons in this country and elsewhere.

The only purpose for suppressing them would be to save the reputations of the persons who attended this conference. Congress has authorized their publication; nevertheless, they have been suppressed. From the standpoint of history, nobody's reputation can ever be saved by violating documents because the historian ultimately gets at the facts.

Until the Teheran Papers are published completely, most of the judgments of the American people on the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia will be based on lack of accurate information.

There must be a purpose in suppressing these documents. Is it to save the reputations of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill? Is it to prove that in their various public statements and books, these statesmen told the truth? Is it to save the reputation of General George Marshall? If these in charge of such matters have no reason for suppressing the truth why do they do it?

The public official who set up the Teheran Conference was Averell Harriman, presently President Kennedy's roving ambassador. Harriman has ratured considerably since his early days in public life.

He knows what happened at Teheran and undoubtedly has kept notes or a diary or he may even have copies of some documents. Harriman is one of the few top men alive to tell the tale.

The American people have the right to know what happened at this conference that changed the world and that laid down principles and agreements over which the Cold War has been continuous since 1945.

The Cold War has three sides: our side, the Russian side, and the neutral side. Our side is that we believe that we know and we state it to be that at Potsdam, Soviet Russia agreed to conditions of conquest which the Russians have violated.

Their side, we do not know and cannot know until we have before us the Teheran Papers which, if published in full, will give us the agreements and understandings among Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. In a word, are the Russians bluffing or were promises made to them which have not been lived up to, or are we complaining about acts of aggression on the part of Soviet Russia to which we agreed when the war was still on?

To understand the character of the Cold War and the Russian insistence that it be prolonged, even against their interests, one is forced to believe that there must be a reason for their attitude.

That reason is to be found in the Teheran Papers. As one reads the Yalta Papers, it becomes clear that Yalta was a prolongation and a correction of Teheran. But what happened at Potsdam, where Harry Truman, unfamiliar with both the Teheran and Yalta Conferences, was confronted by prior agreements? He never agreed to a Summit Conference after that. President Eisenhower went to one Summit Conference and came off with little benefit and at the second one he was abused and belittled. What cards does Khrushchev hold that he dared to humiliate the President of the United States? I think the answer will be found in the Teheran Papers.

Night Plight: Jim was just falling off to sleep when his wife nudged him and said the telephone downstairs was ringing.

"Well, go answer it," he mumbled.

She said she would but at this hour it was probably for him, and then closed her eyes. Jim rolled out of bed.

Upon returning, his wife was asleep. He woke her.

"Wasn't for me, after all," he said, and waited until she had crawled out of bed and pulled on a robe to add:

"It was a wrong number."

The Allen-Scott Report

U.S. Sub Attacked

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — A U.S. submarine was attacked by a Russian bomber in the Barents Sea around the first of this year — approximately six months after the E-47 reconnaissance plane was shot down over these international waters.

This latest attack was unsuccessful. The submarine escaped unscathed.

An air-to-sea missile believed to be a new type depth charge was employed in the attack.

The U.S. submarine was on a patrol mission in the Barents Sea off the northern coast of Russia. The vessel, running submerged, was well out in international waters when attacked by the Soviet bomber.

In inner NATO circles, the Barents Sea is now rated one of the hottest areas of the cold war.

These strategic waters are under constant patrol by both the East and West.

Russia has the largest concentration of naval craft there since World War II, and is definitely known to have reinforced its air units with several squadrons of bombers and interceptors.

The U.S. is patrolling the Barents Sea with submarines and reconnaissance planes.

These northern waters are a "bottle station" of the new nuclear-powered submarine armed with the solid-fuel Polaris ballistic missile carrying a nuclear warhead. Two of three subs have made extensive patrols in recent months.

B-47 reconnaissance flights also are being continued.

President Kennedy authorized them after taking office, following a careful review of the legality of these missions. It was determined they are wholly within U.S. rights as they in no way infringe on Soviet territory.

The planes now operate under ironclad orders to stay at least 50 miles from Russian borders.

The RB-47s are equipped with cameras capable of taking photos of subjects 400 miles distant.

How Reds Did It — That B-47 reconnaissance plane was downed last summer over the Barents Sea with air-to-air rockets ominously similar to this country's Sidewinder — rated as the most accurate and deadly weapon of its kind.

Until the two recently-liberated pilots disclosed this, the Soviet was not known to have this type rocket.

During the "Intelligence debriefing" of Captains John McKone and Freeman Olmstead, they revealed their four-engine jet was hit by heat-seeking rockets from Russian interceptors.

The missiles "homed in" on the No. 2 and No. 3 engines and knocked the plane out of the air.

The RB-47's 20mm guns returned the Reds' fire, but without avail.

McKone and Olmstead strongly recommended that these reconnaissance planes be equipped with Sidewinders.

Another surprise disclosed by the two pilots was the Russians' detailed knowledge about them and their plane. The Soviet interrogators had complete files on all members of the crew; where the plane had taken off from in England; the exact time of its departure and the route flown until attacked over the open Barents Sea some 30 miles from Russian territory.

Since this startling information was reported by the two pilots, and investigation has been underway to determine whether a spy ring exists at the RB-47 base.

Also under scrutiny is the possibility that facts concerning these reconnaissance flights were divulged to the Soviet by two defectors from the National Security Agency. They were cryptographers who specialized in breaking Iron Curtain codes.

To Pentagon authorities it is highly significant that Moscow has never said anything about how the RB-47 was downed.

In direct contrast, Premier Khrushchev himself claimed the U-2 plane was shot down by a ground-to-air missile. That is known to be false. The U-2 was knocked out of the air by interceptors after a flame-out forced the plane to descend to around 40,000 feet.

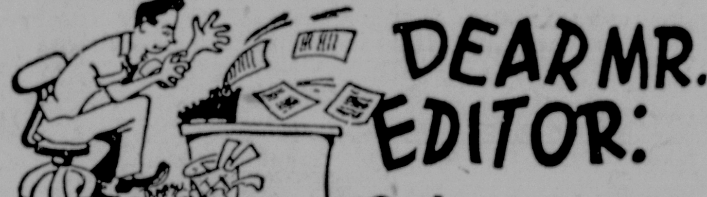

Too Late — Bobby Kennedy, seven-year-old son of Attorney General Robert Kennedy, is not talking about his formal visit to his uncle, the President of the United States.

"It was strictly personal," says Bobby gravely. "Can't discuss it."

The President is a bit more communicative. He smilingly told a congressional leader, "We had a nice talk. But I had to tell Bobby that I couldn't help him because the job he wanted was already filled. I advised him not to be discouraged, and to try again some other time."

The Ladies — Princess Radziwell, sister of the First Lady, wears her hair much longer than the latter, and combed back from her forehead . . . Every baby born in the district of Rep. Frances Bolton (P., O.), receives a personal letter from her reading, "My dear baby: Here you are and you have such a task ahead of you training those parents of yours . . . Letter Of Appreciation

Dear Mr. Editor:

The Monroe County Heart Committee would like to express its heartfelt thanks to all the community chairmen, captains, and their workers for their part in making the Heart Fund Drive the success that it has been.

We also wish to thank The Daily Record, and radio station WYPO for their splendid coverage during the campaign, also the members of Girl Scout Troop 52 who made the window posters.

We owe a great debt of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Possinger who conducted the Heart Fund Dance for our benefit, and to the George N. Kemp Post of the American Legion who sponsored the affair and contributed the use of their beautiful hall and the facilities of their building.

Thanks to the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg firemen-bowlers for their contribution. We also appreciate greatly the work of the Heart Committee Speakers Bureau headed by Miss Genevieve Zimmer and M. J. Leitner, M.D. and all the various speakers arranged for by the bureau.

The Heart Committee is most grateful to all those who contributed in any way to the Campaign.

Q—My sister, a widow of a veteran, is planning to remarry. Will she forfeit her pension payments?

A—The law requires that pension payments be stopped when the recipient widow remarries.

Q—Under the old pension law, an eligible veterans' monthly payment is increased from $66.15 to $78.75 after he has been on the rolls for 10 years, or upon reaching age 65. Does the rate change under the new law?

A—Not because of age or length of time on the pension rolls. The rate may change because of change in the veteran's income, his net worth, or the number of his dependents.

Q—Once I have designated a relative as beneficiary of my GI insurance policy, do I have to keep this person as beneficiary?

A—The GI policyholder may change his beneficiary at any time. However the VA must be notified of the change. You may write directly to your VA insurance office or you may call at the nearest

Loney Seeks Treasurer Position

WARREN F. LONEY, of 1230 Hamilton St., Stroudsburg, has announced his candidacy for county treasurer on the Democratic ticket in primary election.

Loney has been a member of the Stroud Union School Board for the past ten years, five of them as board secretary.

A veteran of World War II, he has served with the U. S.

Marines in the Pacific Theater of operation.

Loney is married and the father of two children. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Stroudsburg; Chemical Fire Co., and a former trustee of the Stroudsburg Eagles.

He also owns property in Stroudsburg.

Two-Car Accident In S-burg

STROUDSBURG Police reported a two-car accident at the intersection of N. Fifth and McConnell Sts., yesterday at 10:20 a.m. There were no injuries reported.

The drivers were identified by police as H. Helen G. Smith, 35, of Buttsville, N.J., and Richard Miller, 33, of 130 Lackawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Miller told police that he was traveling west on McConnell St. and about to enter N. Fifth when he saw the Smith vehicle coming up N. Fifth Street, traveling in the wrong direction.

Police said that both drivers saw each other about the same time and applied their brakes but not in time to avoid collision. The left front of the Smith car hit the Pecono Cab, driven by Miller.

The damage was estimated by police to both cars at $300.

There was no arrest made and no charges will be preferred, police said.

Ask Settlement On Cheat Case

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — The Delaware County Court Friday was asked to approve a settlement by Broad Street Trust Co. of $100,000 to cover part of the $201,927 embezzled by Faber E. Steggle from the Collingdale School District.

Steggle, former superintendent of Collingdale schools, was sentenced June 4, 1958, to 12½ to 25 years in Eastern State Penitentiary on forgery charges.

The bank was the depository for the school board funds. An accounting firm which audited the board's books after the Steggle case was uncovered recommended a surcharge of $144,410 against Broad Street Trust.

The auditors also recommended surcharges of $147,628 against Charles F. Schuele, secretary of the school board, $145,502 against James D. McBride, board treasurer, and $177,897 against Steggle.

State Trooper Leaves Hospital

PITTSBURGH (AP)—State policeman Leonard Struple left Presbyterian Hospital Friday more than a month after being shot three times near New Castle by a motorist he stopped for speeding.

The 30-year-old officer will continue to undergo physical therapy. He was wounded in the left shoulder, upper right arm and mouth.

Struple was taken to New Castle Hospital after the shooting Feb. 13, then transferred to Presbyterian.

His alleged assailant, Thomas Ferriman, 23, of Chippewa Lake, Ohio, is being held at New Castle on a number of charges.

Grain Acreages Being Recorded

FARMERS in Monroe County who may be interested in a possible feed grain production adjustment program in 1961 urged to call at the County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office, according to Donald Reish, chairman of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The request is made to farmers at this time because farm feed grain and other crop acreage information will be needed for any feed grain program that may be authorized for the coming crop season.

Farmers who supply feed grain and other acreage figures at this time will not be obligated to participate in a feed grain program if one becomes available, but will be eligible to participate. However, Reish

Win Honors In Choral Singing

NUMA SNYDER and Kenneth Reassler, music instructors at Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools respectively, received word last night that members of their choral groups placed in Region Two all-state chorus competition held in Clark Summit last weekend.

The selections will enter further competition April 6, 7 and 8 at Gov. Mifflin High School, Shillington, with Jack Best as conductor.

Stroud Union winners will be Susan Hart, first soprano; Bonnie Fritz, first alto; Linda Halgh, second alto; John Baylor, first bass; Asa Raymond, second bass.

East Stroudsburg Area Joint winners were Linda Nitel, second soprano; William Stine, second tenor; Angie Sills, first soprano; Rodney Walker, first bass; Bruce Butz, first tenor; Anna Marie Blair, second alto; and George Hack, first tenor.

Pays Jobless Benefits Back

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 47-year-old Pottsville, Pa. man, Steve Hranchock, was placed on one year probation Friday in U.S. District Court and ordered to make full restitution of more than $1,300 collected illegally in railroad unemployment benefits. He said he already had returned $1,000 and promised the judge to pay the rest within two months.

Hranchock made the fraudulent claims after being laid off by the Reading Railroad.

Groner Set For School Aides Debate

THE American Association of School Administrators (AASA) will open the third of its three 1961 regional conventions in Philadelphia next Saturday, March 25. The session will run three days.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a debate on when foreign language instruction should begin. Earl F. Groner, superintendent, Stroud Union School District, and William H. Starr, head of the Dept. of Foreign Language and Classics, University of Maine, will be the participants. The debate is scheduled for March 27, at 2:30 p.m. in Room D, Convention Exhibition Hall.

The eastern parley will be attended by 9,000 to 12,000 representatives from 16 states, the District of Columbia, Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The program calls for about 125 general sessions and group meetings on almost every critical issue facing the schools — from evaluation of teacher competence and present testing methods to school architecture and finance.

General sessions will be marked by speaker-analyst teams exploring subjects which have a direct or indirect bearing on education.

High priority will be given to the international scene on Sunday at 8:30 a.m. when four educators from the United Kingdom, the Arab-speaking world, central Europe, and the Orient discuss major goals and movements relating to education in their countries.

Jail Break Lasts 3 Hours

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — Two youths serving time for auto theft early Friday engineered a tricky break from the Bedford County Jail, but their freedom lasted only about three hours.

Police said the boys dug a hole in the side of a chimney and climbed 35 feet to the top to the jail roof. Then they ran down a fire escape to freedom.

Ray L. Hughes of New-Paris R. D. 1 and Brent L. Hess of Saxton R. D. both about 16, were captured by police in a stolen car on a rural road near this southwestern Pennsylvania community.

Police said they used a spoon and a small door handle to dig loose the bricks of the chimney which formed part of their cell.

Busy Home Life For 'Queen' Studying At Eastburg State

ELLEN W. Westbrook, of Stroudsburg, N.J., a student at East Stroudsburg State College and last year's queen of Sussex County Farm and Home Show, is a queen that would make all the rest shudder.

Her routine, when at home on the farm, goes something like this:

Up at 4:30 a.m. to make breakfast for her parents, three sisters and two brothers. When this is complete she makes a trip to the barn to help milk the 50 head of cattle. With the milking completed she helps store the milk and clean the pails and machines.

With a slight pause she feeds and waters her horse and then goes to a second farm, owned by her father, to bale straw.

As the sun moves to the west, its "out to the fields" to help Russell Hughes was appointed to the executive committee to revise the by-laws of the Republican Party of Monroe County. MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — The Delaware County Court Friday was asked to approve a settlement by Broad Street Trust Co. of $100,000 to cover part of the $201,927 embezzled by Faber E. Stengle from the Collingdale School District.

Stengle, former superintendent of Collingdale schools, was sentenced June 4, 1958, to 12½ to 25 years in Eastern State Penitentiary on forgery charges.

The bank was the depository for the school board funds. An accounting firm which audited the board's books after the Stengle case was uncovered recommended a surcharge of $144,410 against Broad Street Trust.

The auditors also recommended surcharges of $147,628 against Charles F. Schmied, secretary of the school board, $145,502 against James D. McBride, board treasurer, and $177,897 against Stengle.

State Trooper Leaves Hospital

PITTSBURGH (AP)—State policeman Leonard Straple left Presbyterian Hospital Friday morning more than a month after being shot three times near New Castle by a motorist he stopped for speeding.

The 30-year-old officer will continue to undergo physical therapy. He was wounded in the left shoulder, upper right arm and mouth. Straple was taken to New Castle Hospital after the shooting Feb. 13, then transferred to Presbyterian.

His alleged assailant, Thomas Ferriman, 23, of Chippewa Lake, Ohio, is being held at New Castle on a number of charges.

Grain Acreages Being Recorded

FARMERS in Monroe County who may be interested in a possible feed grain production adjustment program in 1961 urged to call at the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, according to Donald Reish, chairman of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The request is made to farmers at this time because farm feed grain and other crop acreage information will be needed for any feed grain program that may be authorized for the coming crop season.

Farmers who supply feed grain and other acreage figures at this time will not be obligated to participate in a feed grain program if one becomes available, but will be eligible to participate. However, Reish

Win Honors In Choral Singing

NUMA SNYDER and Kenneth Raessler, music instructors at Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools respectively, received word last night that members of their choral groups placed in Region Two all-state chorus competition held in Clark Summit last weekend.

The selectees will enter further competition April 6, 7 and 8 at Gov. Mifflin High School, Shillington, with Jack Best as conductor.

Stroud Union winners will be Susan Harl, first soprano; Bonnie Fritz, first alto; Linda Haigh, second alto; John Baylor, first bass; Asa Raymond, second bass.

East Stroudsburg Area Joint winners were Linda Nittel, second soprano; William Stine, second tenor; Angie Silks, first soprano; Rodney Walker, first bass; Bruce Butz, first tenor; Anna Marie Blair, second alto, and George Hack, first tenor.

Pays Jobless Benefits Back

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 47-year-old Pottsville, Pa. man, Steve Hranchock, was placed on one year probation Friday in U.S. District Court and ordered to make full restitution of more than $1,300 collected illegally in railroad unemployment benefits. He points out that a program can be quickly put into operation if the necessary farm acreage information is on file at the county office. He asks farmers' cooperation in providing information that will be needed before a program can be put in effect.

Bring Records

Interested farmers are asked to bring to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office their records of the acreage of cropland used for field corn, grain sorghums, oats, barley, and other crops for the 2 crop years 1959 and 1960. The report should be on the basis of the acreage planted and the use made of the crop produced. Accurate information must be obtained immediately for possible establishment of farm feed grain base acreages.

Since Monroe County is classed as a minor feed grain producing area, only interested farmers are being asked to make reports. In counties classed as major feed grain producing areas, acreage reports are being obtained for all farms.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Office is endeavoring to obtain this data by March 21, 1961. Interested farmers are asked to file this information with the County Office by that date.

Israel Unable To Solve Problem

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—An executive of the United Jewish appeal declared Friday night that Israel is unable to solve its immigrant problem without outside aid.

"The financial burden on the people of Israel is growing greater rather than diminishing because of the state of improvement on the part of the thousands of new immigrants now entering the country and thus poses a serious threat to that country's economic and social stability," said Rabbi Herbert A. Friedman, executive vice chairman of UJA.

He said to meet the problem the UJA must raise $72,740,000, of which $50,320,000 must be spent in Israel.

Groner Set For School Aides Debate

THE American Association of School Administrators (AASA) will open the third of its three 1961 regional conventions in Philadelphia next Saturday, March 25. The session will run three days.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a debate on when foreign language instruction should begin. Earl F. Groner, superintendent, Spoud Union School District, and Wilmarth H. Starr, head of the Dept. of Foreign Language and Classics, University of Maine, will be the participants. The debate is scheduled for March 27, at 2:30 p.m. in Room D, Convention Exhibition Hall.

The eastern parley will be attended by 9,000 to 12,000 representatives from 16 states, the District of Columbia, Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The program calls for about 125 general sessions and group meetings on almost every critical issue facing the schools — from evaluations of teacher competence and present testing methods to school architecture and finance.

General sessions will be marked by speaker-analyst teams exploring subjects which have a direct or indirect bearing on education.

High priority will be given to the international scene on Sunday at 8:30 a.m. when four educators from the United Kingdom, the Arab-speaking world, central Europe, and the Orient discuss major goals and movements relating to education in their countries.

Jail Break Lasts 3 Hours

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — Two youths serving time for auto theft early Friday engineered a tricky break from the Bedford County Jail, but their freedom lasted only about three hours.

Police said the boys dug a hole in the side of a chimney, and climbed 35 feet to the top to the jail roof. Then they ran down a fire escape to freedom.

Ray L. Hughes of New Paris R. D. 1 and Brent L. Hess of Saxton R. D., both about 16, were captured by police in a stolen car on a rural road near this southwestern Pennsylvania community.

Police said they used a spoon and a small door handle to dig loose the bricks of the chimney which formed part of their cell.

Rev. L. W. Drury Re-elected Chairman Of The Board

REV. L.W. Drury, pastor of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, Stroudsburg, was recently re-elected a chairman of the board of directors of the Eastern Pilgrim College in Allentown.

Rev. Drury has held the office for the past two years.

Other directors elected were James O. Huffert, Allentown; Rev. Ira T. Bechtel, Pottstown; Dr. Hollis Stevenson, Moors, N.Y.; and Rev. Francis Ketter, Bethlehem.

The expansion of the directorate conos Thursday night, June 16, and the next two in the East Stroudsburg High School auditorium Friday and Saturday nights, June 17 and 18.

A committee of workers has already started to contact outstanding performers to headline the production and has scheduled further meetings to arrange other details.

"We haven't progressed to the point where we can announce anything definite yet," a committee member said, "but our preliminary planning indicates the show will top anything presented in this area in many years."

GOP Starts Registration Program

A MEETING of the Republican committeemen and committeewomen was held Thursday night at Pocono Manor Inn.

County Chairman Parke W. Unangst and vice chairlady Mrs. Mary Fontanella were in charge. Due to a prior commitment, vice chairman Carl Meisner was unable to attend. Approximately 40 members were present.

A tribute was paid to Glenn Sanborn Jr., who passed away suddenly Wednesday morning. Mr. Sanborn had been a member of the executive committee.

Unangst reported that the Lincoln Day dinner was a huge success. William Thomas was thanked for his efforts as chairman of the committee and was appointed to head up arrangements for next year's affair.

Forrest Graves and Mrs. Jeanette Batory spoke about registration, explaining the use of cards in connection with the precinct plan. Cards were distributed. It was stressed that the registration deadline is March 27.

Russell Hughes was appointed to the executive committee to revise the by-laws of the Republican Party of Monroe County. Members of the committee include Montgomery F. Crowe, Mrs. Carl Wagner, William Quinn, Hanford Cleveland, Edwin Krawitz, Oscar Everett and Graydon Praetorius.

Refreshments were served. Donald Pierson and Mrs. Katherine Carpenter were in charge of the arrangements.

Busy Home Life For 'Queen' Studying At Eastburg State

ELLEN W. Westbrook, of Stillwater, N.J., a student at East Stroudsburg State College and last year's queen of Sussex County Farm and Home Show, is a queen that would make all the rest shudder.

Her routine, when at home on the farm, goes something like this:

Up at 4:30 a.m. to make breakfast for her parents, three sisters and two brothers. When this is complete she makes a trip to the barn to help milk the 50 head of cattle. With the milking completed she helps store the milk and clean the pails and machines.

With a slight pause she feeds and waters her horse and then goes to a second farm, owned by her father, to bale straw.

As the sun moves to the west, its "out to the fields" to help

GUARANTEED TO BLOOM

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Mothers are not, as a rule, inclined to self-deprecation. They may not belabor the point but in the course of a day they do so many acts of love that they sometimes tend to be a little critical of a family who doesn't notice how their halos grow.

Particularly is this true of mothers who, through their children are drawn into community service like den mothers and Girl Scout leaders and Sunday school teachers. So when the new Girl Scout leaders came home from the investiture, their new Girl Scout pins gleaming — anxious to show off to their Girl Scout daughters—

It was a little deflating when the first thing the daughters asked was "Well, what good does a pin do you go to do so you can turn your pin right side up?"

Speaking of good deeds, the Business and Professional Woman's Club and I always sort of celebrate our birthdays together—except they're the ones who always give the party and I'm the one who always goes. However, they're a little younger than I am so maybe the difference is due to my seniority.

It is always a good party—and they always look beautiful. This year always seemed to hold the center of the stage—and crystal necklace and earring sets.

And just like peach blossoms, that's how the Community Chorus looked in their new dresses. Although they've given so many concerts this season that I suppose they don't feel so new any more. And they sing as pretty as they look.

The only sad note in the whole affair was Betty Clark's resignation. I'm going to miss her, too, even if we hardly ever saw each other any more. We went through the boys' model airplane building, cliff-climbing, jodeling, reconditioning, Boy Scout days together—and that makes friends for life.

Which brings us around to the Scouts again and the Senior's Heritage Hike today. I hope they plan to take notes because I'm going to do my hiking right by the radiator.

Solos by Schubert

Charlotte Trauau's solos at the Music Club meeting were "The Hedge Rose" and "The Linden Tree" in German, by Schubert. Hans Budickler was accompanist.

Mrs. Clark Resigns As BPW Prexy

The gala birthday party of the Business and Professional Woman's Club, now 37 years old in the Stroudsburg, ended on a sentimental note.

Mrs. Earland Clark, president, has offered her resignation since she will be leaving the community to take up a position with Bell Telephone Co. in Allentown. Mrs. Willita Rogalski paid tribute to Mrs. Clark and expressed the regret of the members at her leaving as well as their congratulations on her advancement. She presented her with a gift from the club.

Individual members turned the rest of the meeting into an informal reception in her honor. The party held Thursday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel began with a formal reception line of the officers of the club. A tray of favors was presented to all of the 100 members and their guests attending.

The program featured an evening of song by the Pocono Community Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Norma Treble, to the enthusiastic audience. Pink carnations for the officers, white carnations for the guests and green shamrocks for decorations marked the party.

HOWELL'S GREENHOUSES

Braslet Ave. at E. Brown St.
East Stroudsburg

To me a fireplace makes a living room. As a matter of fact, it makes ANY room, and while I have never cared much for the idea of having one in a bedroom, I have often wished I might at least be able to install a mantel in the apartments I have rented. That's why I was so enchanted by the display on our mezzanine the other morning.

The "fireplace" there is actually the facing for a genuine fireplace to be installed in one's home. And the idea is a new one. Each piece of stone or marble is pre-cut and ready to fit into its proper niche. These mantels, I'm told, retail for approximately 150.00, according to size and materials, and are made by Lawrence C. Hay of Canadensis, telephone LY 5-2820.

As I stopped to admire it, Holt Wyckoff came up the stairway to supervise the hanging of a picture. "This is beautiful," I said, and he agreed. "It certainly is, and we'd like everyone to know that they are available through our store or direct from Mr. Hay. Anyone building a home or having a fireplace installed in an old home, should be very interested. And remember to stress the fact that they are all pre-cut and ready to go together. It's quite an idea."

It is, and we endorse it. "Even though I haven't a fireplace, I'd like one of these—with a gas or electric log," I said. "Could it be used for that purpose, Holt?"

"I wouldn't know why not," he decided. "At any rate, it's a beautiful thing."

His approval was endorsed by Jack LaBar and several customers who came up the stairs at that moment. I now notice that our store has given the hearty added "homey" look with screens, and irons, and such. I am sure everyone... including Santa himself... would approve.

Ann Wyckoff, Holt's wife and president of the Y Auxiliary, has asked me to announce a supper-dance for Teen Agers in grades 9 to 12, Friday evening, April 7th, at the Y. Supper will be served by the Auxiliary at 6:30, and there will be two orchestras: the Four Rhythms, featuring Rudy and her drums, and Gary Reish's Flairs.

One of the finest things about this event is the price... only 1.00 a couple, and there'll be door prizes. Tickets are being sold by our Wyckoff shoe department, by Angie Sills at East Stroudsburg High, and by Sandy Wyckoff, Stroudsburg High. It is hoped that parents will back this activity, since it is a very inexpensive way to entertain the young people in pleasant, desirable surroundings.

Incidentally, I wouldn't wait too long to buy tickets, for there will, of necessity, be a limit because of the supper. Also, the committees must have an idea well in advance how many will be dining. We might also stress that this is for ALL teen-agers of grades 9 to 12, NOT JUST THOSE OF THE STROUDSBURGS. It's simply a matter of first come, first served on the ticket sale.

Shopped our Annive, my Sale yet? You'd better, or you'll regret it when your friends and neighbors score a hit in the Easter parade, and you discover they saved on their outfits by shopping Wyckoff's. The store continues to open daily at 9:30 and will be open until nine both Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Mothers are not, as a rule, inclined to self-deprecation. They may not belabor the point but in the course of a day they do so many acts of love that they sometimes tend to be a little critical of a family who doesn't notice how their halos grow.

Particularly is this true of mothers who, through their children are drawn into community service like den mothers and Girl Scout leaders and Sunday school teachers. So when the new Girl Scout leaders came home from the investiture, their new Girl Scout pins gleaming — anxious to show off to their Girl Scout daughters—

It was a little deflating when the first thing the daughters asked was "Well, what good deed are you going to do so you can turn your pin right side up?"

Speaking of good deeds, the Business and Professional Woman's Club and I always sort of celebrate our birthdays together—except they're the ones who always give the party and I'm the one who always goes. However, they're a little younger than I am so maybe the deference is due to my seniority.

It is always a good party—and they always look beautiful. This year brocades seemed to hold the center of the stage—and crystal necklace and earring sets.

And just like peach blossoms, that's how the Community Chorus looked in their new dresses. Although they've given me so many concerts this season that I suppose they don't feel so new any more. And they sing as pretty as they look.

The only sad note in the whole affair was Betty Clark's resignation. I'm going to miss her, too, even if we hardly ever saw each other any more. We went through the boys' model airplane building, cliff-climbing, jumpy-reconditioning, Boy Scout days together—and that makes friends for life.

Which brings us around to the Scouts again and the Senior's Heritage Hike today. I hope they plan to take notes because I'm going to do my hiking right by the radiator.

Solos by Schubert

Charlotte Transue's solos at the Music Club meeting were "The Hedge Rose" and "The Lindentree" in German, by Schubert. Hans Budicker was accompanist.

Tock's Island Dam Study Presented At Garden Club

The recreation facilities to be made available to millions of people in the East when the proposed dam at Tock's Island in 1975 was of particular interest to members of the Monroe County Garden Club at their meeting on Thursday at the YMCA.

John J. Roddy, community relations director of the Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River Basin, was the guest speaker at the meeting presented by Mrs. Edward C. Knob, conservation chairman, who in her introduction outlined the importance of water conservation.

Roddy outlined details of the proposed dam whose basic purpose is flood control, with the recreational facilities as an added incentive. He showed a film, "Too Much or Too Little" outlining the problems, and benefits to be derived from such a program. A question period followed.

At the business meeting new members welcomed were Miss Josephine Kern, Mrs. G. Wells Van Campen, Mrs. Weldon Cramer, Mrs. John Harnett, Mrs. John Parker and Mrs. A. Roe Bush.

Mrs. A. H. Mathieson and Mrs. Edgar Van Why reported on the New York and Philadelphia Flower Shows.

Mrs. Elwood Grant and Miss Grace DePue, co-chairmen of Junior Activities, gave members a preview of the visual aid display on conservation and horticulture which they will bring to the Girl Scouts next week.

St. Patrick, Easter and Spring arrangements were displayed by Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. Edwin Treible, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, Mrs. Paul Fetherman, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman and Mrs. Edgar Van Why.

Mrs. Paul Heller displayed two species of African violets, the Kimberly and Swirling Petticoats and had an arrangement in an Easter bonnet on the president's table.

Hostesses for the tea were Mrs. Dorothy Clugston, chairman; Mrs. Claude Setzer, Mrs. Waldron Heller with Mrs. Floyd Walker and Mrs. John Dunkelberger pouring.

The centerpiece was a replica of a St. Patrick's Day card made by Mrs. Clugston, including a large Irish hat, clay pipes, shamrocks and red roses, flanked by silver candelabra with white candles.

Mrs. Keiper is the Monroe County teacher of weekday released time education classes and reaches 800 children every week.

Mrs. Keiper Guest Teacher

Bartonsville — Mrs. Elsie Keiper, of East Stroudsburg, was guest teacher for the entire children's department of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School on March 12. An illustrated Bible lesson was presented and several new gospel choruses were taught.

Mrs. Keiper is the Monroe County teacher of weekday released time education classes and reaches 800 children every week.

Plans were made for an Easter egg hunt for kindergarten and pre-school children on March 29 and for the other pupils on March 30 at the school grounds.

The PTA voted to pay the janitor for opening the gymnasium each Saturday for dancing classes, and also to give each seventh grade pupil $3 for the trip they plan to take to Valley Forge in May.

Mrs. Raymond Scott, Mrs. Mason Reimer and Mrs. Eugene Luettgen were named as a nominating committee.

The program featured the school chorus under the direction of Mrs. Walter Emery; a Founder's Day reading by Mrs. Schroder.

Miss Florence Giaguinto, Bangor librarian, spoke on the use of the library at home and school.

The fifth grade received the attendance award. Refreshments were served by third grade mothers.

Journey Slow For Eastburger

By JACK GELINAS
East Stroudsburg Resident
DIAPAG, UPPER VOLTA REPUBLIC (enroute to Timbuctoo; third day). We chafed-off only 145 miles in nearly nine hours of driving today, due to the ill-advice given us by a group of Frenchmen back at Kande, Dahomey, last evening.
They assured us that the "road" skirting the west side of West Africa's largest of wildlife reserves, was a "good road!"
and that we would find it far more interesting with its abundant big game, than the truck road to the east, which we had originally planned to take.

I can still remember starting out this morning, and how glad we were for this new information, as our maps showed the western route as a poor, dry-season track. And as shown on our maps, the "road" they had recommended was no greater in miles than the route to Niamey that follows the east boundary.

Too Late To Turn Back
The last seventy-five miles were the worst, and by the time we had reached this point it was too late to turn back. The first fifty-five of these miles took us more than six hours. And at least fifty-five times I was certain that we'd have to turn back in defeat. But after each fortunate mile we tried to convince each other—and ourselves—that over the next rise, or around the next bend, we would find better road. One fact, however, was definite, it couldn't get worse.

The track was what a dry creek-bed of sharp rocks might be like. To each side of us a lightly forested terrain, with high dry grass and continuous out-crops of jagged granite, ran up hills, through ravines and over low mountain ridges.

Much of the six hours were spent in moving the ugliest of the rocks from the direct path of our tires. My back still aches. And to make matters worse, we didn't see so much as an antelope, let alone a pride of lions.

Because of Function
Diapaga exists only because of its function—as administrative headquarters and center for the park (Parc du W du Niger).
The town itself is little more than a giant quadrangular clearing in this savannah, with the encampment (rest-house) taking its important place about in the center of one of the long sides.
About a hundred yards across, the way is a police station, a few administration buildings and an immigration office. Down at one end are two huge trees which protect the market-place from the sun during the heat of day. In the cool of evening they stand alone like two sentinels watching over the town.

ill the morning sun brings the Germanche women bartering again.

We are finding the encampment here tres bon. It consists of a main building which houses a dining room—with terrace; an office for the managers; who would look just as good behind a desk at The Grand Hotel; and a small lobby, adorned with maps of the park, photographs of big game taken in the park and the shellacked frontals and horns of a dozen species of antelope, ranging from the tiny dik-er to the giant eland.

And the sleeping accommodations are most unique. Each chalet is a modern constructed replica of a native hut, complete with thatched roof. And in addition, each has all the modern amenities, including a terrace floor with carpets. And a generator will supply electricity until it is turned off at 10 p. m.

Sitting here on the edge of a nice soft bed (with clean white sheets) makes one forget the gunny-sack of last night. But, the encampment at Kande held interest, too. The clay wall, with its corrugated, rusted sheet-metal roof, sat just off the road in dense vegetation. Architecturally it looked much like a pavilion one might come across in an unkempt park; except this had two rooms off each end of the enclosure. Each room had a shredded mosquito netting hanging from the ceiling and arranged so that it could be lowered over the rustic bed at night. The sink in the corner had rusted pipes and no water.

But this problem was soon resolved by the ten-year-old Bariba boy who had been attending bar for a group of Frenchmen when we arrived. He quickly directed a steward, four times his age, to go and heat water. He then told us that dinner would be in an hour, and in the same breath directed the cook to kill another chicken. The onion and bacon omelette was good too, and the soup, although non-descript, wasn't bad.

Son of Illiterate
We later learned that the alert, French-speaking lad was the son of the illiterate, Baribaspeaking proprietor. It was the boy who also prepared our bill and the bookkeeping ledgers, which he kept very orderly and very correct. When we returned for the night—it was 10:30 —he was sitting at the new empty bar, waiting to serve our last hour customers. Work was all but ended for another day, and in the morning he would go to school. And I am sure he knew his lesson well, for he sat there he read from a French primer, published in Paris and appropriately titled "The Little Blac. Boy Who Made Good."

Before closing my door for the night I stood and watched him for a few minutes, thinking to myself that here was a little black boy who would make good too. And if some day he should so choose, he'd be the proprietor of a dozen encampments, and each one even nicer than the one here at Diapaga. But this doesn't have to be his dream.
The important thing is to have a dream, no matter what—and I'm sure this boy has one.

Farmers May Use Net Earnings For SS Credit

SOME self-employed farmers may be entitled to use an optional method for figuring their net earnings from the farm for social security credit, Harry R.
Peterson, district manager of the Eastern social security office, and Richard P. Brownell, Scranton District Director of Internal Revenue, reminded farm operators yesterday.

Brownell pointed out that:
(1) If your gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1,600, you may count as your net farm earnings either your actual net or 1/3 of your farm gross income;

(2) If your gross farm income is more than $1,600, and your net farm earnings are less than $1,200, you may use either your actual net or $1,200;

If your gross farm income is more than $1,600, and your net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, you must use the actual amount of your net earnings.

Brownell added that use of the option will enable farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age, or if they become disabled, and for their survivors in case of death. He emphasized, however, that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self

Journey Slow For Eastburger

By JACK GELINAS

Ex-East Stroudsburg Resident DIAPAGA, UPPER VOLTA REPUBLIC (enroute to Timbuctoo; third day)—We chalked-off only 145 miles in nearly nine hours of driving today, due to the ill-advice given us by a group of Frenchmen back at Kande, Dahomey, last evening.

They assured us that the "road" skirting the west side of West Africa's largest of wild-life reserves, was a "good road" and that we would find it far more interesting with its abundance of big-game, than the truck road to the east, which we had originally planned to take.

I can still remember starting out this morning, and how glad we were for this new information, as our maps showed the western route as a poor, dry-season track. And as shown on our maps, the "road" they had recommended was no greater in miles than the route to Niamey that follows the east boundary.

Too Late To Turn Back
The last seventy-five miles were the worst, and by the time we had reached this point it was too late to turn back. The first fifty-five of these miles took us more than six hours. And at least fifty-five miles I was certain that we'd have to turn back in defeat. But after each torturous mile we tried to convince each other—and ourselves—that over the next rise, or around the next bend, we would find better road. One fact, however, was definite, it couldn't get worse.

The track was what a dry creek-bed of sharp rocks might be like. To each side of us a lightly forested terrain, with high dry grass and continuous out-crops of jagged granite, ran up hills, through ravines and over low mountain ridges. Much of the six hours were spent in moving the ugliest of the rocks from the direct path of our tires. My back still aches. And to make matters worse, we didn't see so much as an antelope, let alone a pride of lions.

Because of Function
Diapaga exists only because of its function as administrative headquarters and center for the park (Parc du W du Niger). The town itself is little more than a giant quadrangular clearing in this savannah, with the encampment (rest-house) taking its important place about in the center of one of the long sides. About a hundred yards across the way is a police station, a few administration buildings and an immigration office. Down at one end are two huge trees which protect the market-place from the sun during the heat of day. In the cool of evening they stand alone like two sentinels watching over the town.

Named Hospital Food Official

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—James H. Petersen has been named vice president and general manager of operations for Hospital Food Management, an affiliate of Slater Food Service Management.

Petersen, 34, will head the firm's service to hospitals in 15 states and the District of Columbia. He managed the Valley Hunt Club in Bradford, Pa., before joining Slater in 1955.

Bangor Pre-School Testing Menus Of Area Schools

BANGOR — Registration of children, who have not attended kindergarten and are of chronological age to enter first grade, will be held March 29 through March 31. Registration will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

DeMolay Dance Tonight

POCONO Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will sponsor a teenage dance tonight and donate all the proceeds to the Red Cross membership drive now in progress.

The dance, which will have a St. Patrick's motif, will be held in the East Stroudsburg Armory from 8 to 11 p.m.

Two orchestras will provide the music—the Rhythm Aces of Wilkes-Barre and the Continentals of the Stroudsburgs. Don Stevens, Scranton disc jockey will be master of ceremonies.

One of the highlights of the benefit affair will be the presentation of Miss DeMolay, in the person of Donna Grover, to the public. James Wescott is in charge of arrangements.

daily at the Health Office, 428 Market St.

The children who will attain the age of five (5) years and seven (7) months by September 1, 1961 are eligible to register.

In as much as the Bangor Area Joint School System has a certified school psychologist on their staff, arrangements to test the children will be made accordingly.

Parents are reminded to bring a certificate of temporary or successful vaccination, a birth certificate or baptismal certificate and a certificate of childhood and polio immunizations. If unable to have the child vaccinated due to a specific allergy or contagious disease a written statement from the family physician stating the specific reason for non-vaccination should be presented.

Mrs. Pearl Carvella, R.N., will be at the following places for parents of pupils outside the borough, Portland and Upper Mt. Bethel parents can register at Portland School, Reservoir Ave., Tuesday 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

In Washington Twp., registration will be at township school on Wednesday during the same hours. Further information may be obtained from Miss Marie Engler by calling JU 1-2163.

Farmers May Use Net Earnings For SS Credit

SOME self-employed farmers may be entitled to use an optional method for figuring their net earnings from the farm for social security credit, Harry R. Peterman, district manager of the Eastern social security office, and Richard P. Brownell, Scranton District Director of Internal Revenue, reminded farm operators yesterday.

Brownell pointed out that: (1) If your gross income from agricultural self-employment is not more than $1,800, you may count as your net farm earnings either your actual net or 2/3 of your farm gross income. (2) If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are less than $1,200, you may use either your actual net or $1,200;

If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are $1,200 or more; you must use the actual amount of your net earnings. Brownell added that use of the option will enable farmers with gross income as low as $600 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age, or, if they become disabled, and for their survivors in case of death. He emphasized, however, that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self-employment earnings) to get social security credit for the year.

Some farm owners who receive cash, rent, or crop shares from tenant farmers can get social security credit for such income. If the farm landlord, under his agreement with his tenant, materially participates in the production or management of production of the farm crop raised on his land, this income may be creditable for social security purposes and subject to the social security tax.

Information regarding taxes due and tax return forms can be obtained at the Internal Revenue Office at Scranton, Pa. If you have any questions about old-age, survivors, or disability insurance, the people in the social security office at Easton, Pa., will be glad to answer them.

Airlines Plan New Schedule

NEW YORK (AP)—Pan American World Airways, Trans World Airlines and Seaboard & Western Airlines have proposed a new schedule of North Atlantic air freight rates calling for reductions of up to 63 per cent from present schedules.

The proposal was filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board to take effect in mid-April.

Cripple Sits High For Work

BRAMPTON, Ont. (AP)—Henry Meadowcroft, 36, a crippled steamfitter out of work for more than a year, climbed atop a 60-foot advertising sign Friday and said he'll stay there until he gets a job.

Meadowcroft, a former boxer and wrestler, said he hasn't been able to find a job since he chipped a bone and tore a ligament in his left foot while working in October 1959.

His wife has been supporting him and their 16-year-old son on $30 weekly salary as a flower sorter, he said.

NEW AGAIN!

The transformation of a ramshackle house into a beautiful home is often accomplished with just a little paint and a few repairs.

Often the reason for putting off the making of improvements is that the owner does not have the ready cash. Probably he does not know that our modernization plan could help him.

Ohio State, St. Joe, Cincy Score NCAA Wins

John Havlicek's Late Basket Gives Buckeyes 56-55 Win

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, never behind but closely pursued most of the way, finally edged Princeton's pesky Tigers 72-67 Friday night in the opening game of the NCAA Eastern Regional Basketball Tournament semifinals.

St. Bonaventure and Wake Forest met in the second game to determine St. Joseph's opponent Saturday night in the battle for a place in next week's concluding play at Kansas City.

St. Joseph's 14th successive victory came only after the Hawks had almost been shot down in the closing minutes by Princeton's pressing Tigers.

The Tigers, after a miserable first-half foul shooting effort, began to hit from the free throw line near the end and Drew Hyland, a sub, threw two baskets, the last cutting the St. Joe lead to 63-67 with 26 seconds left. But the Philadelphians got the last four points, two foul shots by Vince Kempton and another pair by Harry Booth, the latter after the final horn.

Kempton led the Hawk scoring with 21 points.

Pete Campbell of the Tigers led all scorers with 24 points, including 12 of 13 from the foul line.

Goalby Blasts 62 For Golf Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Bob Goalby scored the Pasadena golf course with a record nine-under-par 62 Friday to lead at the halfway point as the field continued its merciless assault on par in the $20,000 St. Petersburg Open Tournament.

Goalby's 129 total, 13 under par for the two rounds, was one stroke better than that of Jack McGowan, who was tied for the lead at 63 with Bill Casper Jr. at the end of the first round Thursday.

Casper took 70 Friday, but McGowan came in with a 67 and would have tied Goalby except for a bogie six on the 18th hole, where his tee shot hit a tree.

He still had a chance for his par, but he three-putted.

Ideal Conditions

The 6,296-yard par 36-37 course again provided ideal playing conditions, with the result that it required a two-round total of 140, two under par, to survive the cut to the low 60s and ties for the third round Saturday.

In third place, at 131, was Ted Kroll, who added a 61 to his first round 67. Bob Brue, with 67-67, was tied at 132 with Mason Rudolph, who added a 67 to his 65, and Casper, Doug Ford and Don Fairfield were in the 133 bracket, one stroke ahead of Gary Player, and Paul Harney.

Groat's Bat Sparks Bucs 14-10 Win

Dick Groat, the 1960 National League batting champion and sparkling of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, pounded out four hits and drove in five runs Friday as the Bucs downed the Milwaukee Braves 14-10 for their seventh victory in eight exhibition games.

It was strictly a slugfest in which the Braves out-hit the champs 20-16, getting half their hits and five earned runs off Pirates starter George Witt. It was Groat's hitting and that of Bob Clemente that made the difference. Clemente drove in four runs.

While the Bucs continued their winning ways, the Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees had further reason to be thankful that Grapefruit and Cactus League games don't count in the season standings. The Reds lost their seventh in eight games and the Yanks their sixth in seven.

Wood's Honors

Philadelphia beat the Reds 5-3 on a two-run homer by Jim Woods in the seventh inning and shutout pitching by Jack Baldschun, former Cincinnati farmhand, over the last five innings. Wally Pote dropped in all three Cincinnati runs with a single and homer.

The Chicago White Sox cashed in on two errors by shortstop Tony Kubek in the 11th inning to defeat the Yankees 5-2.

Stroud Union Post Rifle Meet Win

STROUD UNION High School's rifle team scored a 479-472 win over Fountainhill Tuesday on the loser's range.

Stanley Teleski and Alan Serfass each posted 93s for the winners out of a possible 100.

Ten men fired for each team but only the five highest scores were recorded.

Buffalo Duo Grabs Top Pin Position

DETROIT (AP) — Len Mal and Don Whelan of Buffalo combined for a 1,300 series Friday to charge into first place in the classic doubles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The pair opened with games of 414 and 438, then scored 448 in the third game.

Therm Gibson and Bob Hitt of Detroit, the doubles leaders since March 9 with 1,295, fell to second.

Angels Top Jessup 90-84 In Mid-Valley

NEWFOUNDLAND — Newfoundland's Blue Angels scored a 90-84 win over Jessup in the Mid-Valley Basketball League Friday night.

John Hinds had 26 points for the winners and Bob Haag added 21.

Tom Kisel, the league's leading scorer tossed in 40 points. Newfoundland led only 45-43 at the half but outscored the losers 23-15 in the third period to pull away.

Stroud Union Post Rifle Meet Win

STROUD UNION High School's rifle team scored a 479-472 win over Fountainhill Tuesday on the loser's range.

Stanley Teleski and Alan Serfass each posted 93s for the winners out of a possible 100.

Warriors End Spring Drills Today With Normal Hill Intra-Squad Game

WARRIOR ROSTERS

EAST Stroudsburg State College winds-up its Spring football practice today, with an intra-squad game at Normal Hill at 1:30 p.m.

The game sends the Red Team, handled by head coach Dick Platt, and assistants Jake Platt, Ken Welgoss and Don Schleicher against coach Sterling Brown's White Team. Brown will be assisted by Walt Snyder and Al Wilgard. All the coaches except Welgoss are former ESSC gridgers, who graduate in June. Welgoss, an ex-professional baseball player, is not eligible for intercollegiate athletics.

The contest will be played under game conditions except there will be no kickoffs or punt returns. The ball will be put in play on the 20-yard line of the team that wins the opening toss and at the same spot after each touchdown or field goal.

More Individual Instruction Cubs 8-Coach System Meets With Approval Of Players

By JACK STEVENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Owner Philip K. Wrigley's startling idea of operating the Chicago Cubs this year without a manager has to date been surprisingly successful.

"This is the best spring training I've ever been through in my life," declared ace pitcher Glen Hobbie. "If the pitchers aren't in shape or the fielders aren't in shape for the start of the season, it won't be the fault of the program."

His remark was typical of player reaction to the eight-coach board of strategy plan instituted by Wrigley. At the start of the season, one of 13 eight will be named head coach with the job of rotating bases. With the eight all in the spring camp, the players get more individual instruction.

Jobs Open

Outfield and catching jobs remain wide open with the Cubs counting on some solid pitching this season.

Jobs Open

Hobbie, who won 16 games while losing 20 last season, heads the staff of starters. Dependable Don Eklund tops the bull pen crew with Joe Schaffert, Seth Morehead and Mel Wright, sixth men in the relief roles.

Jobs Open

Bob Anderson, with a 9-11 record last season, Don Cardwell, who pitched a no-hitter in his debut as a Cub in 1960, Dick Drott, Dick Ellsworth, Jim Brewer, and Mike Drabowsky all battle for starting assignments.

Experience To Help

Rip Collins, a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' "Gashouse Gang" from 1931 through 1936, coaches the hitters and declares, "We'll have a better ball club this year through experience. There were several fellows playing their first year with the Cubs last season."

Shortstop Ernie Banks

remains the No. 1 Cub. He led both leagues in home runs last season with 41 and his career total of 269 is more than any other shortstop in major league history.

Baldwin's Football Clinics Successful

THE American Football Coaches Assn. grid clinics being put on across the country by Stroudsburg's Marty Baldwin, are meeting with excellent results.

Four clinics have already been held in Santa Monica, Cal., Grand Rapids, Mich., Dallas, and Kansas City, Mo. This weekend clinics will be held in Birmingham, Ala., and Springfield, Mass., and on March 24, the troupe moves to Harrisburg. The final affair is at Raleigh, N.C., March 31.

On the staff at Harrisburg will be Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State, Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma, Paul (Bear) Bryant, Alabama, Bill Hess, Ohio, John Piskalis, Albright and Leo Strang, Massillon, Ohio, High School.

The Harrisburg clinic is the only one that Baldwin will handle personally, although he supervised the organization of the other clinics.

Staff Completed For Clinic At ESSC

Baldwin has completed his staff for the 18th Annual Eastern Pennsylvania Coaches Clinic booked June 19-22 at East Stroudsburg State College.

Wayne Hardin, Navy; Jake Galtner, Florida A & M; Jerry Burns, Iowa; and Phil Merion, Ridley Twp. High School, will handle the football end and Jack Gardner, of Utah University, is the basketball instructor.

Cornell University athletic trainer Frank Kavanaugh will conduct several classes on athletic injuries.

The banquet speaker for the affair is Lefty Gomez, former New York Yankees pitcher.

The sons of Jack Cummins, new Shawnee Inn golf professional, received a treat from nature, when they moved to the Poconos Monday. It was the first time they had seen snow.

The two boys began school in Monroe County this week. Mike, 16, is a sophomore at East Stroudsburg High School and Tim, 11, attends Shawnee Elementary School.

Mike earned a varsity letter in baseball as a freshman in a Miami High School last year.

Tobyhanna Depot Cage Team Eliminated

The basketball team at Tobyhanna Signal Depot was eliminated from the Second Army Basketball Tournament at Ft. Knox this week, bowing to Ft. Meade, Md., 78-46.

The greatest number of injuries in a football game come in the third quarter, Ernie McCoy, director of athletics at Penn State told a conference on athletic injuries at Danville last weekend.

One of the biggest reasons for the injuries in that period said McCoy, was the lack of warm-up after the halftime intermission.

Most players are content with several deep knee bends or wind-sprints after the half, while they spend 15 to 20 minutes warming-up before the game.

Nazareth Speedway will open Sunday, April 9 and Dorney Park will open its auto track April 21.

Hopewell Hits 31 In Polzer Tourney

Russ Hopewell, East Stroudsburg State College hoopster, tossed in 31 points for the Palmer A. C. in the John Polzer Basketball Tournament at Nazareth Wednesday. But Palmer dropped a 90-81 decision to Labor Lyceum.

And Pat Fisher, an outstanding girls' basketball player at ESSC last year, was so impressive in a game against the touring Texas Cowgirls in Easton Tuesday, that the touring Cowgirls asked Pat to join their outfit.

Who's Ben Schwartzwalder kidding, certainly not the Penn State football staff.

Talking to a reporter about the project for the coming year, the Syracuse football coach brought up the name of Bill Schoonover, Stroud Union graduate.

"We lost two fullbacks," said Schwartzwalder, "but we've got a sophomore, Bill Schoonover, from Stroudsburg, who might be pretty good at fullback. He's not too big. Only goes about 190. He wasn't big enough for either Pitt or Penn State so we had to take him. We always get the little fellows."

Las Vegas Line

Two bookmakers carrying lines on the pennant chase favored the Pirates 2-1. The other two had the Braves 2-1.

While Sox Second

Following the Yankees in a consensus were the Chicago White Sox, 5-1; Baltimore Orioles, 6-1, and the Cleveland Indians, 6-1.

The Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins, with the Twins making their first run at the flag, were figured as an entry at 10-1. Two of the bookmakers, legal in Nevada, declined to post odds on the Kansas City Athletics, Los Angeles Angels and Boston Red Sox. Two others had them at 11-1 as an entry to take the pennant.

Entries would be better similar to a horse race with a better winning if any of the group won.

The Angels also are going into their first season of competition. Behind Milwaukee and Pittsburgh in the National came the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-1.

The San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals look to turn as fourth and fifth title choices with odds from 5-1 to 7-1.

The Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds were figured as an entry with odds from 15-1 to 25-1.

Yanks Picked By Bookies; Bucs, Braves Co-Favorites

LAS VEGAS (AP)—It'll be the New York Yankees in the World Series next October, Las Vegas odds makers agreed Friday, but they split between Pittsburgh and Milwaukee in the National League.

The bookies regard some American League clubs as such dark horses they refuse to quote odds—unless the clubs are grouped as an entry.

Opening line odds on the Yanks perennial American League power, ranged from 2-3 to 3-2.

Video Fight Features 2 KO Artists

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Wright of Detroit and Federico Thompson of Argentina, two middleweight boxers with 70 knockouts between them, meet in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the St. Nicholas Arena Saturday night.

Wright, who flattened Sugar Hart in an upset last month, has kayed 16 opponents in 43 starts. Thompson's kayo record is 54 in 116 outings.

Thompson, a rangy boxer-puncher, gave Welterweight Champ Benny (Kid) Paré a tough battle in their title bout last Dec. 1. The Cuban won the decision, but Thompson had him in trouble in the 15th round. Also to the Argentine's credit is a victory over Don Jordan of Los Angeles, 147-pound titleholder at the time. He followed with a 12-round draw with Paré in an elimination bout.

Wright fought only five times in 1960. He was figured to be a relatively easy mark for Hart on Feb. 27. But he wore down the fast-punching Philadelphian, finally stopping him in the ninth round.

Ohio State, St. Joe, Cincy Score NCAA Wins

John Havlicek's Late Basket Gives Buckeyes 56-55 Win

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, never behind but closely pursued most of the way, finally edged Princeton's pesky Tigers, 72-67 Friday night in the opening game of the NCAA Eastern Regional Basketball Tournament semifinals.

St. Bonaventure and Wake Forest met in the second game to determine St. Joseph's opponent Saturday night in the battle for a place in next week's concluding play at Kansas City.

St. Joseph's 14th successive victory came only after the Hawks had almost been shot down in the closing minutes by Princeton's pressing Tigers.

The Tigers, after a miserable first-half foul shooting effort, began to hit from the free throw line near the end and drew Hyland, a sub, threw two baskets, the last cutting the St. Joe lead to 68-67 with 26 seconds left.

But the Philadelphians got the last four points, two foul shots by Vince Kempton and another pair by Harry Booth, the latter after the final horn.

Kempton led the Hawk scoring with 21 points.

Pete Campbell of the Tigers led all scorers with 24 points, including 12 of 13 from the foul line.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Havlicek rescued Ohio State in the closing seconds Friday night to edge underdog Louisville 56-55 in the semifinals of the Midwest Regional NCAA Basketball Tournament.

Kentucky met Morehead in the other semifinal for a place Saturday night against the national champs in the regional finals.

Ohio State was in trouble most of the way and with the score tied at one minute to go it looked like Havlicek might be the goat.

Caught Walking

Trying to fake his guard, he was called for steps, giving Louisville possession. But 13 seconds later, Louisville's John Turner threw a bad pass and Havlicek recovered it and hit the clinching basket with 18 seconds to go.

Turner had a chance to tie it with one second left when he was fouled. He hit his first free throw but missed the second on a one and one bonus situation.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Cincinnati's Bearcats, big, bold and better all the way, crushed outclassed Texas Tech 78-55 and pushed their winning streak to 19 Friday night in the opening semifinal game of the NCAA Midwest Regional Basketball Tournament.

Kansas State's Big Eight champions met Houston in the second game for the right to challenge Cincinnati's bid for a third straight regional crown Saturday night.

Cincinnati, champion of the Missouri Valley Conference, for the fourth straight year and the nation's No. 2 rated team, needed about 10 minutes to shake off the NCAA jitters — something Texas Tech couldn't do all night.

Out of today's game, Gregory hopes to find reserve strength at the end and guard posts, another quarterback, a starting center and two defensive halfbacks.

Cubs 3-Coach System Meets With Approval Of Players

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Owner Philip K. Wrigley's startling idea of operating the Chicago Cubs this year without a manager has to date been surprisingly successful.

"This is the best spring training I've ever been through in my life," declared ace pitcher Glen Hobbie. "If the pitchers aren't in shape or the fielders aren't in shape for the start of the season, it won't be the fault of the program."

His remark was typical Cub player reaction to the eight-coach board of strategy plan instituted by Wrigley. At the start of the season, one of the eight will be named head coach with the job of a rotating basis. With the eight all in the spring camp, the players get more individual instruction.

Experience To Help

Rip Collins, a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' "Gashouse Gang" from 1931 through 1936, coaches the hitters and declares, "We'll have a better ball club this year through experience. There were several fellows playing their first year with the Cubs last season."

Shortstop Ernie Banks remains the No. 1 Cub. He led both leagues in home runs last season with 41 and his career total of 269 is more than any other shortstop in major league history.

Third base belongs to Ron Santo who joined the Cubs in mid-season of 1960 to become the club's rookie-of-the-year.

Veterans Ed Bouchee and Frank Thomas work at first base with former Dodger Don Zimmer at second. Rookie Jim McInnis makes a strong bid for the utility infield job at with fine fielding

Job Openings

Fielding and catching jobs remain wide open with the Cubs counting on some solid pitching this season.

Hobbie, who won 16 games while losing 20 last season, heads the staff of starters. Dependable Don Euston tops the bullpen crew with Joe Schaffernoth, Seth Morehead and Mel Wright expected to help him in the relief roles.

Bob Anderson, with a 9-11 record last season, Don Cardwell, who pitched a no-hitter in his debut as a Cub in 1960, Dick Drott, Dick Ellsworth, Jim Brewer, and Mike Drabowsky all battle for starting assignments.

Rookies Billy Williams and Danny Murphy may need further seasoning. Available are veterans Richie Ashburn, George Altman and Bob Will with Al Heist, a rookie last year at 32.

A hot hitl rager for the catching assignments with Collins asserting, "this could be one of our strong positions."

Rookies Cuno Barragan from Sacramento and Dick Bartell, who played last season with Houston, battle for Taylor and Moe Thacker for the assignments.

Goalby Blasts 62 For Golf Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Bob Goalby scorched the Pasadena golf course with a record nine-under-par 62 Friday to lead at the halfway point as the field confirmed its merciless assault on par in the $20,000 St. Petersburg Open Tournament.

Goalby's 129 total, 13 under par for the two rounds, was one stroke better than that of Jack McGowan, who was tied for the lead at 63 with Bill Casper Jr. at the end of the first round Thursday.

Casper took 70 Friday, but McGowan came in with a 67 and would have tied Goalby except for a bogie six on the 18th hole, where his tee shot hit a tree.

He still had a chance for his par, but he three-putted.

Ideal Conditions

The 6,296-yard par 36-35-71 course again provided ideal playing conditions, with the result that it required a two-round total of 140, two under par, to survive the cut to the low 60s and ties for the third round Saturday.

In third place, at 131, was Ted Kroll, who added a 64 to his first round 67. Bob Brue, with 67-65, was tied at 132 with Mason Rudolph, who added a 67 to his 65, and Casper, Doug Ford and Don Fairfield were in the 133 bracket, one stroke ahead of Gary Player, and Paul Harney.

Groat's Bat Sparks Bucs 14-10 Win

Dick Groat, the 1960 National League batting champion and sparkplug of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, pounded out four hits and drove in five runs Friday as the Bucs downed the Milwaukee Braves 14-10 for their seventh victory in eight exhibition games.

It was strictly a slugfest in which the Braves out-hit the champs 20-16, getting half their hits and five earned runs off Pirate starter George Witt. It was Groat's hitting and that of Bob Clemente that made the difference. Clemente drove in four runs.

While the Bucs continued their winning ways, the Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees had further reason to be thankful that Grapefruit and Cactus League games don't count in the season standings. The Reds lost their seventh in eight games and the Yanks their sixth in seven.

Woods Honors

Philadelphia beat the Reds 5-3 on a two-run homer by Jim Woods in the seventh inning and shutout pitching by Jack Baldschun, former Cincinnati farmhand, over the last five innings. Wally Post drove in all three Cincinnati runs with a single and homer.

The Chicago White Sox cashed in on two errors by shortstop Tony Kubek in the 11th inning to defeat the Yankees 5-2.

In other exhibitions, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Minnesota Twins 7-2. Detroit piled up an 11-6 score against the Los Angeles Dodgers, the Boston Red Sox trimmed the Los Angeles Angels 10-5 and the Chicago Cubs edged the San Francisco Giants 10-9.

Stroud Union Post Rifle Meet Win

STROUD UNION High School's rifle team scored a 479-472 win over Fountainhill Tuesday on the loser's range.

Stanley Teleski and Alan Serfass each posted 98s for the winners out of a possible 100.

Ten men fired for each team but only the five highest scores were recorded.

HOW A SMALL GANG of undersized and undernourished Monterrey, Mexico, lads taught their American neighbors a lesson in human relations and became Little League world champs will be told Thursday, March 23, at 7:30 p.m. in a newly-edited, full-hour repeat presentation of "How Tall Is a Giant?" This poignant documentary film world-premiered on NBC-TV last year to critical acclaim. Tennessee Ernie Ford returns as host of this special.

SUNDAY HIGHLIGHTS

The "Sunday Sports Spectacular" at 2:30 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10 presents "Hunting and Fishing", with tips on these sports and the proper use of various types of equipment. . . . Dewey Martin stars as Daniel Boone, whose expedition into the fertile land of Kentucky is threatened with disaster when the majority of his followers decide to return home to North Carolina rather than face continued assaults from Indians in the final episode of the Daniel Boone saga on "Walt Disney Presents" at 6:30 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7.

Walter Cronkite narrates the "Twentieth Century" presentation "Minuteman" at 6:30 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10, telling of America's newest defense weapon, a rocket that can be launched from a truck, a train—from almost any point—with only 32 seconds' notice.

Shirley Temple is hostess and star of "The Princess and the Goblins" at 7 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4, co-starring Jack Ging, Irene Hervey, Mary Wickes and Alice Pearce.

Nick Adams stars as Johnny Yuma on "The Rebel" at 9 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7, featuring Tommy Noonan as Paul Fallow, a mute boy who is orphaned when Johnny shoots his outlaw father in a gun duel and who later gets a chance to save Johnny's life or gain revenge. . . . Art Linkletter gets the help of guests Vic Damone, Eddie Albert, Jane Wyatt, the Little Angels and Pat Harrington, Jr. to prove "Kids Are Funny" at 9 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4.

Arthur Godfrey is host for "Candid Camera" at 10 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10, one of tonight's sequences featuring Pat Harrington, Jr. as a shoeshine boy who asks his customers in advance what his tip is going to be. . . . Ralph Edwards pays tribute to a refugee who endured two years of terror to escape the Gestapo during World War II on "This Is Your Life" at 10:30 p.m. on ch. 3 and 4.

SPORTS

Baseball 2 p.m. ch. 11—Baltimore Orioles vs. Yankees.

Rt. Rev. Ian Shevill To Be Guest Speaker

THE Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Queensland, Australia, Rt. Rev. Ian Shevill, will speak Thursday, March 23, at 8 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church, Bethlehem. His topic will be "The Mission of the Church." Members and friends of the Episcopal Parishes in this area are invited to hear this young leader of the Church "Down Under."

Bishop Shevill served as secretary for the Australian Board of Missions 1946-47; Secretary of Education, The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, London, from 1948-51; Home Secretary, Australian Board of Missions 1951-53; and Bishop of North Queensland since that time. Presently he is Chairman of the National Promotion Council of the Australian Church.

Bishop Shevill has written

"God's World in Prayer," "New Dawn in Papua" and "The History of Pacific Missions." The Bishop is 42 years old. Last year he was married to a missionary doctor whom he met in the highlands of New Guinea among the pygmy tribes.

Host for the evening is the Rev. Dr. Merrill M. Moore rector of Trinity Church.

Truck Heads, Labor Join To Battle Roads Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Truck line management and labor joined yesterday in predicting disaster if Congress approves President Kennedy's highway tax recommendations, bearing heavily on the big trailer trucks.

Edward V. Kiley, research director of the American Trucking Associations, Inc., told the House Ways and Means Committee the weight, diesel, tire and rubber taxes Kennedy proposed would put many truck lines out of business. Kennedy asked Congress to enact the new levies to raise about a third of the annual $900 million extra revenue estimated as needed to finish the interstate superhighway system on time. The rest would come from a continuation of an extra one-cent general federal gasoline tax scheduled to expire this year. Kennedy said the big trucks should assume a larger share of the cost.

This argument was strongly disputed by Sidney Zagari, legislative counsel of the Teamsters Union. Zagari said urban roads "of little or no direct interest to the over-the-road trucking industry" account for much of the increased cost of the program and that Congress should send the bill to "all the users and nonusers benefitting."

"The Kennedy truck tax will grossly increase the truckers' cost of operation and give the railroads tremendous advantage in their present drive for monopolistic power against the trucking industry," Zagari told the committee.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message letters under the checked figures give you.

Enter any line of work or business (honesty, of course, is a must). You can succeed. In Birthdate: Grover Cleveland 22nd & 24th U. S. Pres.; John Calhoun, Amer. statesman; Robert Donat, actor.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Don't permit aggravation or excitability to smother your prearranged plans or cause you unnecessary worry. You have many friendly turns and you can attain reasonable results for efforts.

January 21 to February 19 (Angus)—Unquiet and restless action taken. A bright, snappy outlook and plans are the order for this responsive period. You'll be surprised what you can do, what you will achieve if you try.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Just so-so in your sector, but there are beneficent tendencies all around so you can garner benefits if you seek them. Enjoy your family, friends, some pleasant recreation, a hobby.

YOU BORN TODAY? Have unusual perception, are intuitive, imaginative. Kindness, generosity and fair play are inherent. Seldom do you folks boast or seek the limelight. HEALTH CAPSULES by Michael A. Petti, M.D.

CAN YOU SLEEP BEST IN A COMPLETELY DARK, COMPLETELY SILENT ROOM?

SURPRISINGLY, NO! IF YOU SLEEP IN A BLACK, SOUNDPROOFED ROOM, YOU'LL BE LESS RESTED THAN IN AN ORDINARY ROOM.

Health Capsules is designed to give helpful medical information. In no way is it intended to be a diagnostic device.

Obituaries

Mrs. Strasberg, Former Resident

MRS. ESTHER PASCAL STRASBERG, 75, a former East Stroudsburg, Pa., resident, was buried in Mt. Hebron Cemetery, Flushing, N.Y., March 5.

Mrs. Strasberg, of 21 Center St., Mt. Vernon, N.Y., died in Tampa, Fla., while visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee.

She maintained a residence in the East Stroudsburg area from 1921 to 1949.

A native of Rumania, she was the daughter of Meyer and Belle Berkowitz Pascal, and came to this country 59 years ago. She was a charter member of the Ladies Hebrew Aid Society of Mt. Vernon, and a member of Galitzer-Handwerker Society, New York City.

In addition to Mrs. Lee, she is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Samuel Burke and Mrs. George Fairbank, both of Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Morris Lavetson, Stroudsburg; two brothers, Paul Pascal, Rego Park, Long Island, and Jack Pascal, Brooklyn; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Milberg, Asbury Park, N.J., and Mrs. Sophie Kleberman, Brooklyn; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Rites Monday

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—J. Elmore Turrell, 77, retired industrialist and a trustee of Pennsylvania Military College, for 20 years, will be buried here Monday. PMC will send an honor guard of six cadets. Turrell, who lived in Nixen, near Allentown, died Thursday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Carbon Votes To Establish Zoning Unit

CARBON County Commissioners voted to establish a county planning commission.

Appointments to the nine man commission, for which no funds will be appropriated this year, will be made in the near future. The members will serve without compensation.

Last week, formation of a planning commission was recommended by the State Department of Commerce, Louis I.

regional supervisor of the department's Bureau of Community Development, suggested an initial appropriation of $15,000 to get the commission in operation. He added that the federal government will furnish an additional $15,000 on a matching fund basis.

The commission is empowered to "adopt and maintain a comprehensive plan for the physical development of the county and surrounding territory."

The comprehensive plan will include a land use, a thoroughfare plan and a public improvement program.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kozak and daughter visited relatives in Scranton on Tuesday.

Cpl. James Fuller has left for Germany where he will spend some time.

P.T.A. meeting of Tobyhanna Township was held on Thursday evening in the high school auditorium.

W.S.C.S. of the Pocono Lake Methodist Church held their monthly meeting at the church on Wednesday. They will have a ham and egg supper on March 25 in the church room.

Good Friday services will be held at 8 p.m. at the Pocono Methodist Church.

Easter sunrise services will be held at Locust Knob.

Mrs. Edward May celebrated her birthday anniversary on March 14.

Mrs. Calvin Keiper and Mrs. Pearl Berger visited Mr. Calvin Keiper at the Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Gerald Keiper, Eugene Bonser, Mary Louise Wilson, college students, spent the week end at their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walch and sons of White Haven visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newman Berger and grandmother Mrs. Hazel Hay.

Catholics Blast Nazi Physicians

HAMBURG, Germany—West German Roman Catholics have protested sharply against authorities allowing physicians participated in Nazi-sponsored "mercy killing" to continue to practice in the country.

Catholic leaders and organizations have criticized a recent decision by the Hamburg health authorities and the Hamburg Physicians' Chambers which refused to cancel the licenses of 18 doctors at Rothenburgsort Hospital near here.

Jordan Doesn't Like Parade

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan has told the U. N. Palestine true chief, Sweden's Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn, it takes a serious view of reports that Israel plans to mark the mid-April anniversary of Israeli independence.

It said Jordan reserves a right to take counteraction—as it did three years ago in massing troops and tanks in old Jerusalem when Israel massed troops and arms in the Israeli sector.

Youths Urged Not To Smoke

HARRISBURG (AP)—Three health organizations Friday urged parents to head their children away from smoking "before their habit patterns are established."

In a joint statement the American Cancer Society, Pennsylvania Division; Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society, and the Pennsylvania Heart Association agreed that "it is better never to start smoking."

Their statement, issued at a forum here on smoking cited what it termed "evidence" that the annual death rate for smokers of all forms of tobacco is 32 per cent higher than that of non-smokers, and that the death rate of cigarette smokers is 58 per cent higher.

The tobacco industry contends that no link between cancer and smoking has been proved.

Appeal For Cuts

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Italy's circuses, big and little, are appealing to senators and deputies for tax reductions, subsidies and other aid to keep them in business. Otherwise, says their central agency, they face slow, sure death.

Obituaries

Mrs. Strasberg, Former Resident

MRS. ESTHER PASCAL STRASBERG, 75, a former East Stroudsburg, Pa. resident, died in Mt. Hebron Cemetery, Flushing, N.Y., March 5.

Mrs. Strasberg, of 21 Center St., Mt. Vernon, N.Y., died in Tampa, Fla., while visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee.

She maintained a residence in the East Stroudsburg area from 1921 to 1919.

A native of Rumania, she was the daughter of Meyer and Belle Berkowitz, and came to this country 59 years ago. She was a charter member of the Ladies Hebrew Aid Society of Mt. Vernon, and a member of Galtzer-Handwerker Society, New York City.

In addition to Mrs. Lee, she is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Samuel Burke and Mrs. George Fairstein, both of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Morris Laveon, Stroudsburg; two brothers, Paul Pascal, Rego Park, Long Island, and Jack Pascal, Brooklyn; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Milberg, Asbury Park, N.J., and Mrs. Sophie Lieberman, Brooklyn; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Rites Monday

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—J. Elmore Turrell, 77, retired industrialist and a trustee of Pennsylvania Military College, for 20 years, will be buried here Monday.

PMG will send an honor guard of six cadets, Turrell, who lived in Nixen, near Allentown, died Thursday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. from the Ashton Funeral Home, Bloomsbury, N.J.
